

More Restrictive Home Occupation Law

DC Council Action Next Week Seen

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO councilmen appointed builder Patrick Ahern to a one-year term as mayor Monday night. Vice mayor during the past fiscal year, Ahern assumed the chair from outgoing mayor Frank Bertucelli at Monday's Council meeting.

Use Permit For Sign To Planners

South San Francisco councilmen directed a use permit request for a 108-square-foot illuminated sign in the West Park subdivision back to planning commissioners Monday, after receiving arguments from representatives of Lucky Stores, Inc., in a public hearing.

The firm appealed an earlier decision of the planning commission to deny the use permit. Councilmen referred the issue back to planning commissioners with the suggestion the permit be issued on a one-year trial basis "to determine how effective the sign will be in increasing the store's business."

City Planner Daniel Pass opposed the use permit on grounds the store's sign area "already exceeds the maximum stipulated in the planned development."

Addition of the new sign will increase the grocery market's total sign area to 459 square feet, Pass said, and the maximum allowable for a single business in a C-1 district is 300 square feet.

"If we don't take measures to restrict signs this residential area will soon resemble El Camino Real," the planner said.

However, Mayor Frank Bertucelli and councilmen recommended the permit be granted because of a lack of development in the area.

Daly City councilmen are expected to adopt a new, more restrictive home occupation ordinance at their regular meeting next Monday night. The new law would, in effect, tighten up control of "home occupations" in the future.

Under the proposed law, final approval for a home occupation permit would be made by city planner Edward Lawson once it was determined the proposed business met every requirement of the new law.

About the only so-called "occupations" that would qualify under the new ordinance are washing, ironing and sewing.

Specifically outlawed would be massage studios, barber shops, beauty salons, contractors' offices (where employees report or otherwise assemble), clinics, and even mail-order businesses.

Planners expressed the opinion that mail-order firms "often get out of hand" and included them on the list of businesses "not incidental to the use of a dwelling."

The recommendation was passed on to the council following a public hearing this week which no one — except members of the Planning Commission and Planner Lawson — showed up to discuss the matter at city hall.

"The hearing was legally advertised as usual, but no one appeared at the meeting," Lawson said.

In all, Lawson filtered through home occupation ordinances from 50 Bay Area cities before putting together his proposal for Daly City.

He found that all cities — except South San Francisco — (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

D.C. Marine Is Killed in Viet Action

A young Daly City Marine was killed in action in Vietnam last week, it was learned today.

Staff Sgt. H. James E. Green, of 34 Tinian Road, was on a "special operation" when he was killed. He was 22 years old.

Sgt. Green is survived by his wife, Elsie. The couple had no children.

The veteran of more than three years in the Marine Corps left for Vietnam last January 18.

Married less than two years ago, the couple moved to Daly City in March, 1966, when Green was transferred to Hunters Point in San Francisco from Twenty-nine Palms Marine Corps Station, California.

N. County to Look Ahead Eight Years

The development of the cities of the north county and the role that business and industry can be expected to play in each respective community development program during the next eight years will be discussed April 12 at the Holiday Inn in South San Francisco, in a North County Conference. The meeting, a major economic and governmental conference, will particularly explore the business climate now and in the future.

The conference is the first of a series of economic seminars sponsored by the San Mateo County Development Association.

Co-sponsored by the association and the chambers of commerce of Daly City, South San Francisco, San Bruno, Pacifica and Brisbane, the North County Seminar will also discuss the roles of firms and facilities already located here — such as industrial parks, medical facilities, manufacturing and executive facilities and automotive sales services.

Among the scheduled speakers are John C. Lilly, general manager of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority; Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the State Division of Highways; Don S. Wilson, San Mateo County engineer.

John C. Barulich, president of the Airport Drayage Co.; James K. Carr, general manager of the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission.

Bruce Craver, director of the economic development and research department of the California State Chamber of Commerce, will speak at a luncheon meeting on "the care and feeding of community development."

The seminar will begin with registration and coffee at 8:30 a.m. and will conclude at 1:30 p.m.

Planners Ok AG Zoning Of Coast Orchid Farm

By DON GRIERSON

Pacifica planning commissioners recommended approval of a request for rezoning the Vallemar Gardens Orchid Farm property from a garden apartment district to an agricultural district Monday.

The site, which fronts 800 feet on the Coast Highway, was rezoned from agricultural to garden apartments in 1965.

Planning commissioners recommended the zoning change on grounds the property lies on the proposed 186 freeway route, "and apartment development in the area is very unlikely."

The property is used for growing orchids, and several adjacent parcels are zoned

A-B-5 (agricultural).

In other business Monday, the commission tabled several requests for "agricultural preserve" zoning "in order to acquire more information on the intent of the law covering this type designation."

A bill authorizing the zoning was recently adopted by the State Assembly. The zoning affords a considerable property tax reduction.

Augustine Repetto and Henry Pastorino have requested the zoning for a 53-acre parcel along Sharp Park Road, and two other property owners in the city are seeking to place smaller parcels in "agricultural preserves."

Transit Group Asks For More Time

An extra year and a half of life was asked yesterday by the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority.

The board of directors endorsed legislation which would extend the Authority's expiration date, now fixed at January 1, 1969, to June 30, 1970.

The directors had agreed previously that the extra time is needed to dovetail the Authority's transit study with studies being made by other agencies, such as the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and Santa Clara County. None of these other reports is to be completed by the time the West Bay agency is scheduled to go out of business unless a master transit plan has been approved by the electorate by that time.

The West Bay study was undertaken after San Mateo County withdrew from the Bay Area Rapid Transit District. The study was financed by a controversial surcharge placed on auto license fees.

ABAG Urges DC To Be Cooperative

Daly City councilmen had few comments to make regarding a letter received this week from Association of Bay Area Government's executive director Warren Schmid asking them "to continue to work co-operatively both inside and outside ABAG."

Councilman Frank Pacelli, who spearheaded Daly City's recent walkout of the association, said, "As far as I'm concerned my stand on the matter hasn't changed."

In the March letter, dated March 29, Schmid said ABAG's executive committee believed Daly City had a significant contribution to make in future decisions of the organization and hoped "that you will participate actively through all appropriate channels."

"On March 16 the Executive Committee voted unanimously to urge the City Council of Daly City to continue to work co-operatively, both inside and outside the association, with other Bay Area cities and counties for the most reasonable form of regional government to meet the needs of the Bay Area," Schmid said.

Daly City's withdrawal from the nine county, 80 cities association becomes effective on April 15.

Before withdrawing from ABAG, Pacelli blasted the association for trying to impose "super government" on the Bay Area and protested ABAG's efforts at reconstitution into a regional form of government.

Once the threats directed at Daly City leaked out, Santa Clara County supervisors issued a joint-statement condemning ABAG's stand on the matter and sent copies of their letter to federal, state and member counties.

Schmid wrote: "The Association's proposal is founded upon the conviction that the general purpose local governments of the Bay Area must work together to solve such problems or face the alternative that they will be solved for us by higher levels. It was adopted by the association after lengthy study and discussion of the issues."

The Goals and Organization Committee (of ABAG) was formed by the General Assembly in October 1965 and was given the responsibility of making recommendations regarding regional governmental (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Engineers Tell Of N. County's Freeway Work

Construction is reported to be more than 75 per cent complete on Interstate highway No. 280 (Junipero Serra Freeway) between Daly City and South San Francisco.

The entire 60-mile facility is scheduled to be completed before 1973 linking San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Completion of the 3.4-mile of highway presently under construction between Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City and Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco will be open for traffic early next year, it was revealed recently.

Included in this $10,500,000 project are structures and rough grading for the route 280-1 interchange. The final phases of construction on route 1, however, are not scheduled for completion for several more years.

Other interchanges along the freeway are being built at Westborough Boulevard, Hickey Boulevard extension and Collins Avenue extension (future Serramonte Drive).

Undercrossings for local traffic service are under construction at Southgate Avenue and King Drive extension.

The freeway is being built with the split level profile through the hills west of existing Junipero Serra Boulevard, bordering Winston Manor. Southbound lanes will be 12-feet higher than the northbound roadway.

The minimum 24-foot wide median separating opposing traffic directions at the north end of the project widens as the route progresses through the split level section to a maximum of 60-feet.

Lawmen Led On Chases By Trucker

A Pacifica truck driver was recaptured after two harrowing chases by the combined forces of the Highway Patrol and local police in Pacifica Friday night.

The first chase began shortly before midnight when Pacifica Police Officer James Towne spotted Raymond Villa, 38, speeding away from an accident on the Coast Highway.

Officer Towne began his pursuit of the fleeing car northbound along the highway for some three miles at speeds over 100 miles an hour.

At the Manor Street off-ramp, Villa's car skidded into a freeway guard rail, shearing off more than 15 feet of the heavy metal railing, demolishing his car.

Villa, of 301 Shoreside Avenue, Pacifica, was escorted to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City for examination of a possible injured back.

While waiting in the X-ray laboratory, Villa fled the hospital with police close on his heels.

The suspect was found less than a half mile from Mary's Help and taken back to jail.

Policeman Exemption Support

South San Francisco councilmen adopted a resolution in support of a California Association of Police Chiefs' movement to acquire draft exempt status for police officers Monday night.

The resolution, adopted at the request of Police Chief John Fabbri, urges inclusion of police officers on the United States Department of Commerce list of essential activities and the Department of Labor's list of currently critical occupations.

In a memo to the council, Fabbri said his department "is experiencing difficulty in recruiting qualified young men in the force."

"We feel police protection is of equal or more vital importance to our community than military service, and a change in the draft status of officers would aid immeasurably in acquiring qualified men," the chief said.

D.C. Studies Convalescent Hospital Plan

Plans to construct a $600,000, 102-bed convalescent hospital on Southgate Ave. in Daly City has run into a temporary snag.

The city council Monday night decided not to include the project on next week's regular meeting agenda pending further study by the city staff.

The council expressed dissatisfaction with subdivision improvements made in the proposed hospital area and decided to table the matter until these improvements have been completed.

Daly City Planning Commission head McRobert L. Stewart had recommended approval of a use permit for the hospital with the condition that the subdivision improvements be completed prior to the opening of the "rest home," that the entire site be landscaped and maintained in good condition, and that street trees (olive) be planted on both street frontages at 30-foot intervals in accordance with city specifications.

Only this week, Irving Caster, president of the San Mateo County Association of San Mateo, revealed plans for the modernistic hospital.

Caster, internationally known as a designer of hospitals and convalescent homes, said construction of the proposed hospital would "likely get under way" within the year.

Interior design of the structure is by Irving Tier Company of Berkeley, Caster said, with Roberts-Pacific, Inc. of San Mateo, named as general contractor on the project.

City Planner Edward Lawson said that since filing the original application, the owners — Westlake Convalescent Hospital — had submitted a revised plan enlarging the building, increasing the parking spaces from 30 to 47 and altering the surrounding yards.

While this had little effect on the commission's recommendation, the council decided to settle the "subdivision improvements" matter before allowing construction to proceed.

ESCAPES VIRTUALLY UNHURT—A San Bruno man miraculously escaped serious injury Saturday afternoon when a truck literally climbed on the top of his tractor. John Vassallo of Millbrae, driver of the truck, was pushing the stalled tractor driven by Henry C. Hays Jr., when the truck's bumper was caught in the cleats of the tractor wheels and lifted up. The men, both employees of C and S Rental and Supply Co., were returning from a job site when the tractor stalled and they decided to push it. Hays was treated for lacerations at Peninsula Hospital and later released.

Home Occupancy Legislation Due

permitted home occupations in general.

South San Francisco recently revised its own home occupation ordinance, making it more restrictive.

The chief characteristics of the new Daly City ordinance are: (a) complete elimination of the procedure, (b) prohibition of certain types of uses, (c) outline of criteria needed to qualify for approval of home occupation license, and, (d) annual renewal requirement for all permits.

Lawson has defined a home occupation as "the conduct of a business, art or profession, the offering of a service, or the handicraft manufacture of products in a dwelling."

Other features of the proposed ordinance state no one, other than the actual resident of a dwelling, may be employed in the conduct of a home occupation; no garage space, accessory building or open yard space shall be used for the conduct of a home occupation, and not more than one room may be used to conduct the business.

If the home occupation creates additional traffic around the dwelling, authorities may close it down, according to the proposed law.

Commercial vehicles are likewise forbidden to be parked on the street.

Homeowners Win Council On Easement

A resolution authorizing necessary action for the city to relinquish its rights to water easement rights of way in the Cypress Lawn Cemetery area to a homeowners group was adopted Monday by South San Francisco councilmen.

The city will turn over upkeep of the property to the Winston Manor Homeowners Association, a group of residents who have been tending lawns and landscaping on the property on Arlington and Bradford Drive.

The resolution authorizes the homeowners "to make further improvements" toward beautification of the property, pending approval of the San Francisco Water Company, owner of the water rights of way.

creation of the association in his letter to Daly City, ending with:

"As you may know, the action taken by the association (after a series of meetings) is in the form of a resolution making recommendations to the state legislature.

"Those recommendations — which provide among other things for the creation of an organization with limited authority, without having direct power of taxation, and with a General Assembly having the same formula for representation of cities and counties as now exists in ABAG — are neither all inclusive nor rigid and inflexible.

"The opinions, information and viewpoints which will be generated by legislative consideration during the months ahead may well stimulate the association to adopt recommendations on aspects of the problem which we have not yet considered and to review and modify recommendations already made.

Building Hits A Fast Pace In San Bruno

New building in San Bruno last month totaled $578,999, more than $100,000 over the figure for March, 1966.

The building department reported permits were issued for 22 new homes, two commercial buildings, 33 residential alterations and five commercial alterations.

A total of 62 permits were issued, compared with 55 permits during March, 1966. Total building for March, 1966, was $449,989.

Building during the first three months of 1967 was approximately a million dollars below the figure for the first three months of 1966.

New building at the end of last month totaled $975,830, compared to $1,483,742 for the first three months of 1966.

SSF Park Solution Near, Noonan Says

A solution is "very near" in the month-old dispute between the City of San Francisco and Caesar-Callan Homes, Inc., over preparation of a park site, City Atty John Noonan said Monday.

The city has demanded that the building firm complete preparation of sites for a park and a fire station in the Westborough subdivision as a condition for further development of the project.

The matter has prevented planning commission action on a proposed parochial church school in the area for several weeks, and a public hearing for rezoning a 180-acre parcel of the building firm's land has been postponed for months.

The city has demanded that a ten-acre park site be filled and graded, and also that the smaller parcel slated for the fire station be improved.

Purity Stores Pres. Harold G. Ward announced today that Mike P. Leone has been appointed Meat Division manager of the 83-store Northern California food chain company. Leone has been active in the supermarket meat business in Northern California for the past 17 years.

Bruno P-TA Opens Family Life Course

First of series of programs on family life education, sponsored by the San Bruno P-TA co-ordinating committee, will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the Willard R. Engvall Intermediate School.

Remainder of the series will follow on consecutive Tuesdays, April 11 and 18, at the same time and place. The purpose of the program is to give San Bruno parents a chance to become acquainted with the proposed curriculum, now being used in pilot programs in some 30 schools in the county, and to provide an opportunity for discussion.

Dr. Dorothy Westby-Gibson, professor of education at San Francisco State College, will serve as discussion leader for the first two sessions.

Coins Stolen In SSF Theft

A coin collection and jewelry valued at $150 were taken from a South San Francisco residence in a burglary Sunday night, police reported.

Officers said the Circle Court residence of Stewart A. McDaniel was entered between 8:30 and 8:45 p.m. Sunday while the occupants were away.

A bedroom in the house was ransacked.

Entrance was gained through forcing a rear window.

April Drive On Cancer

Daly City's Mayor Bernard Lycett has proclaimed April as "Cancer Control Month," to herald the imminence of the American Cancer Society's fund-raising Cancer Crusade.

The proclamation, signed in the mayor's city hall office, follows:

WHEREAS, all human life is precious, and

WHEREAS, it is in the public interest to prevent unnecessary suffering and death, and

WHEREAS, every citizen has available to him a positive course of action against the disease of cancer, which annually exacts much suffering and takes a much larger than necessary toll of human life, and

WHEREAS, this defensive course of action consists of obtaining regular health checkups and knowledge of cancer's warning signals, as recommended by the American Cancer Society, and

WHEREAS, during the month of April the Daly City Unit of the American Cancer Society will, in conjunction with its annual fund-raising appeal, conduct a community-wide Cancer Crusade to acquaint the public with the nature of these warning signals, and

WHEREAS, the "Youth Against Cancer," youngsters of our community engaged in the battle against cancer, will march in an all-out one-day Crusade, Saturday, April 8, 1967, with adult volunteer guidance.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Bernard J. Lycett, Mayor of Daly City, do hereby proclaim the period of April 1 to 30, inclusive and April 8, "Youth Against Cancer" Day as CANCER CONTROL MONTH in Daly City, and in doing so urge every citizen to assist in or be receptive to the American Cancer Society's dedicated humanitarian effort to save more lives in Daly City from such a dread disease.

Mother Gets An $83,000 Improvement

An $83,000 neighborhood improvement project in Daly City, which grew from a mother's request for a better sidewalk for her child to walk to school on, won the preliminary approval of County Supervisors.

The board adopted a resolution of intention to form an assessment district to pay for the work. A public hearing was scheduled for 2 p.m. May 9. Construction bids are to be opened at 10 a.m. on that date.

Involved is an area bounded by Hillside Boulevard, Third Avenue and Market, Castle and Price streets.

Deputy County Engineer S. H. Cantwell said the county will contribute $20,000 to the project, the North County Sanitary District will contribute $1,400 and Daly City $500. The remainder will be raised by assessments against property owners. Cantwell estimated that the cost to the owners will be about $21 a front foot.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of Daly City to be affixed this 29th Day of March, 1967.

Turning Thoughts in Direction Of Basketball, 'White Hope'

Le Pacini

BASKETBALL THOUGHTS:

If boxing promoters are really serious about matching Wilt Chamberlain with Cassius Ali-Clay and still subscribe to the old "White Hope" theory, they could promote the latter without loss of the unique basketball flavor by signing either the Warriors' own Tom Meschery or Rick Barry, both of whom have sweet rights.

We saw Meschery's classic cross to Bad News Barnes' head in person, and viewed Barry's hay-maker on Jerry Chambers' face on television, and could hardly believe the class, precision and power with which the respective punches were thrown. Perhaps we're too used to baseball fights, which are notorious for being bloodless, because most baseball players punch like girls. Of course, there is the possibility that Barnes and Chambers might not be quite in Clay's class, and that neither Meschery nor Barry could hit Clay unless he wore a hoop around his head, but then why bring up little technicalities which could ruin a perfectly good two million dollar gate.

ONE SOMETIMES gets the idea that this bit about Philadelphia winning so big because of Chamberlain's "team play" is nothing but a big hoax. As Barry said recently, "Let's face it. If I win the scoring title it'll be only because Wilt lets me. He can score 50 anytime he wants to."

In other words, what difference does it make whether Chamberlain scores 24 and Hal Greer scores 38, or whether Chamberlain scores 40 and Greer scores 22. It still adds up to 62, right?

It does, we think, psychologically benefit the rest of the 76ers and hypes the gate, but in actual terms of winning or losing, we think "balance" in this case is fallacious.

WHAT it amounts to is that if Wilt doesn't give the other guys a chance to score, they lose out on the headlines, the cheers, and the subsequent good contracts. Which means that they sulk and want to be traded and cause dissention. And let's face it. Not even Chamberlain can stand five guys by himself. He has to have somebody on the court to play catch with him.

As far as attendance is concerned, you don't have to be a Freud to know that fans must be able to associate themselves with the players, and above all, that nobody likes a perfect human being, one who can so dominate a game that it's no longer fun to watch and too wholly predictable.

People WANT their heroes to have an occasional bad night so that they can empathize with them, and root like crazy for their "comeback."

How can you prove that all this theory might be right? Just notice that every time Philadelphia REALLY gets in trouble, they turn the big boy loose and let him score as much as they need.

SPEAKING of big men, did you ever have the frightening thought that UCLA might be great even without Lew Alcindor? Not as overwhelming perhaps, but maybe unbeatable in a more conventional — and interesting — manner.

MUCH as we dislike throwing a damper on Franklin Mieuli's great job of revitalizing the Warriors this year, we think he should be reminded of his team's racial imbalance (only four Negroes: Joe Ellis, Bob Warlick, Al Attles and Nate Thurmond — and only Thurmond a real regular) and that if he doesn't draft accordingly he may come under NCAA scrutiny.

LOCAL NOTES:

Congratulations to South San Francisco's fine team for winning its own Easter vacation baseball tournament after twelve tries. Five of Coach Bob Brian's boys made the tournament all-star team, including Brian's son, Bruce, who was the hero of the championship game.

Unfortunately, Terra Nova couldn't make the same claim in ITS own Easter tournament, but at least infighter Mike Busky made the all-tourney team. Oceana, which won the tournament's consolation title from Crestmoor, placed two men on the field-r Mike Burger.

South San Francisco's Warrior basketball team was recently rated 40th in Northern California prep circles by Imperial Sports Syndicate of Los Angeles. Which sounds like a typical L.A. enterprise.

THIS IS as the ad-men say, just off the top of our head, so if we're wrong, somebody let us hear about it. But isn't Juan Marichal, at 29, the youngest player ever to hit the $100,000 plateau, and isn't Horace Stoneham the only owner in the world to have ever had two $100,000 men on his payroll simultaneously?

As long as we're doing things off the top of our head, how about a capsule pennant prognostication? Look for the Phillies, because of top-flight front line hurling (Jim Bunning, Larry Jackson, and possibly the best lefty twosome in the game, Chris Short and Dick Ellsworth), to be the dark horses, especially if modern medical science can keep their old men wired together. Pittsburgh is over-rated, may be lucky to finish fourth.

Their favoritism is mostly based on Maury Wills, who didn't play enough — or play well enough — to help the Dodgers appreciably last year. And now he's a year older. Don't forget, it took six or eight Pirates having their greatest-ever years to come as close as they did, a situation comparable to the Giants of '62, and they WON! And then couldn't bounce back the next year.

Don't count the Dodgers out, who still have Walter Alston and may still have the best pitching in the league. Plus more power and fewer disturbers.

It continues to amaze us that Cincinnati, with all the great athletes it has, doesn't come up. This could be the year. And if Atlanta's pitching question marks come through, they could breeze.

THE GIANTS? They'll make it a six-team race, will win it if they trade for a good shortstop. Now, do you know who's going to win the pennant? Of course not. You're at exactly the point we were when we began the whole thing.

Princess Coronation, Show Friday Night in Pacifica

The eighth annual Pacifica Little League Princess Contest and Variety Show will be held April 7 at 8 p.m. at Terra Nova High School, with Ralph Goss, Pacifica Toastmaster, the master of ceremonies.

Named as judges for the Princess Contest have been Mayor Harland Minshaw, Councilwoman Mrs. Grace McCarthy, Vice-Mayor Nick Gust and Chief of Police Neil Tremaine.

In the contest are Priscilla Pearson, Rose Marie Nickerson, Marlene Puderer, Cheryl Tenney and Nancy Cook.

Entertainment will include performances by "Porr Boys" Ken Bisio, Nick Calia, Ted Henry and Frank Schilling; three past Little League Princesses Robin Pappas, Tina Dryden and Phyllis Funderburg; Kathy Lineas, piano and song; the Bob Myers family; Beverly Puderer, and the Sweet Adelines.

Reigning will be the 1966 Princess Carl Miler.

Show chairman is Dorreen Fasano.

S.M. Blasts Westmoor In Practice

San Mateo High School's baseball team had a full week to rest up for the Mid-Peninsula League season after routing Westmoor, 7-1, in a practice game.

Ricky Wills, the Bearcats' top pitcher, scattered four Westmoor hits, struck out five and walked three in hiking San Mateo's over-all record to 6-2 for the season.

Bowling Day In Daly City

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lysett proclaimed last Saturday as San Francisco-Peninsula Junior Bowling Association Day in Daly City.

In his proclamation the mayor said:

"Whereas, on April 1, 1967, the San Francisco-Peninsula Junior Bowling Association will open its Fourth Annual Junior Bowling Tournament, which will include the team event in Daly City and the doubles and singles in Redwood City, and thus Daly City will be privileged and honored to act as host to thousands of devotees of the wholesome sport of bowling; and

"Whereas, it is anticipated that many bowlers will participate in the various phases of the Fourth Annual Junior Bowling Tournament and that their families and friends will enjoy the attractions of Daly City during the tournament which will extend through April 9, 1967..."

TD PASSES

Joe Namath of the New York Jets, Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs and George Blanda of the Houston Oilers all threw five touchdown passes in one game last season.

Title Year Trend For South S.F.?

If practice season trends count for anything, the baseball team of South San Francisco High School is headed for a successful North Peninsula League season which could wind up in a championship.

South S.F., whose league debut didn't arrive until yesterday, combined errorless defense with six stolen bases yesterday for a 9-0 rout of De Anza.

In addition, the Warriors' got a superlative pitching performance from Larry Alsterlind, the diminutive hurler who was making only his second start since ending basketball season 11 days ago.

Alsterlind allowed two scratch hits, one an infield single, walked but one and struck out nine in going the distance for the victory.

Ram Golfers Beat Balboa

The Westmoor Ram golfers won their first match of the season last week trouncing Balboa at the San Francisco Golf Course.

Taking medalist honors was Jeff Becker with a 74. George Poulos and Mike Pollak had 75 games, while Ed McGenty and Steve Green followed with 79's.

KYA Tackles TN Faculty Cagers Today

The K.Y.A. One-ders battle the Terra Nova Faculty on the basketball court today at 8:15 p.m.

It will be K.Y.A.'s second visit to the TN campus after receiving their first loss from the Faculty last year. The loss followed 13 victories.

Last year's Faculty victory has been attributed to K.Y.A.'s Don Delbon, who played for the Faculty in that game. Director of student activities and varsity basketball coach at Terra Nova, will play two quarters on each team.

PAL Tigers Beaten By BYA 'Blinds'

Oakland's Doggie Diner and Daly City's OLM Wolves 8th Grade baseball teams chalked up a pair of wins in the PAL-Daly City Recreation Department sponsored Easter Baseball Tournament last week.

The Doggie Diner club handled New Pizza '51' then came back to defeat a tough PAL Colt Club 3-1. The boys from OLM bombed BYA Unique Blinds, 10-3, then stormed past St. Gabriels, 10-4. Other action in the tourney saw the BYA Unique Blinds pick up a 10-9 win from the PAL Tigers.

Outstanding players in the tournament up to date included Smokey Morton of the PAL Colts, Matt Dyson and Mark Dawson of the Doggie Diner and Tom Matteucci and Jerry Montague for the OLM Wolves.

Duds Lead D.C. Hunch League

Duds, Playboys, Golden Bout That chalked up wins in the Daly City Recreation Department Three-Man Hunch Basketball League last week.

The Duds kept their record clean with a 41-23 victory over J. C. Penney's of Westlake. Gary Ryan was high for the winners with 18. Mike Kennedy hit for 13 and teammate Bob With had 10 for the evening. Penney's Chuck Ransom kept things alive for the losers with 15 points.

Still in second place with a six and one record are the Daly City Playboys. Their 41-31 win over the Wildcats was led by Roy and Rich Reitz who tanked 38 of the 41 points. Rich Graham paced the Cats with 16. Doug Canyon hit for 8 and

Rain Plagued Prep Coaches

Nerve-racked prep coaches from the Peninsula once again returned to the well-worn drawing board today and attempted to reschedule another drove of athletic events thwarted by Spring storms.

For the fourth time this season, baseball, track and tennis coaches all but threw up their hands in complete despair as they tried to find more rain-out dates on their already bulging schedules.

A few, like Crestmoor High School's Steve Gehre and South San Francisco's Bob Brian, just said "forget it." Crestmoor's twice before postponed game with Terra Linda has been cancelled permanently. Likewise, South SF's tussle with Mills High School.

In the Mid-Peninsula League track scene yesterday, all of the MPL cinder coaches met at Burlingame High School as a mid-noon storm battered the track oval outside.

The coaches reset yesterday's meets and also decided to hold the annual Mid-Peninsula Relays on May 15 — at the end of the season. Previously, they had been before the season started.

In the North Peninsula League, Westmoor baseball coach Rod Losberger had to cancel his fourth baseball game. "I don't see how we can make these games up and yet I hate to go into league play next week with only four practice games," Losberger bemoaned.

"Our boys are slow starters and, although I believe we have a fine team, I just don't think that we will be ready until the NPL season is half over," he woefully added.

Also put off was the prestigious King City relays, to be held today in the valley town. The relays, which annually are attended by most of the Peninsula high schools, will be held April 29.

The only thing which made it was swimming as the rains failed to daunt the already wet swimmers.

Junior Rams Beat Falcons

Westmoor's frosh-soph baseball team will play El Camino on the Colt diamond at 3:15 p.m. today, in the Rams' second league game of the season.

The Rams defeated the Crestmoor Falcons on their home field last week, 1-0, in a game that went nine innings before either team could score.

Joel Carrara and Steve Roche shared the pitching duties for the Rams, hurling a three-hit shutout.

LED RIDERS

Panamanian Jorge Velasquez led the riders at the 1966 Monmouth Park racing meet with 75 winners, 16 more than runner up Charles Baltazar.

Pacifica League Meeting

Today is the deadline for entering the Pacifica Recreation Department's 1967 Men's Fast Pitch Softball League.

A meeting will be held at Oddstad Park Center at 8 p.m. to discuss league organization, schedules and fees, and all teams and individuals interested in participating should attend.

No teams will be accepted after tonight's meeting, a recreation department spokesman said.

A meeting will be held Thursday night at the center to discuss rules and organization of the 1967 Men's Lob Ball League. This meeting will also begin at 8 p.m.

Westlake Bowl

By James Greulich

Over 500 junior bowlers invaded Westlake last Saturday and Sunday to bowl in the San Francisco-Peninsula Junior Bowling Association Fourth Annual Tournament. "Bowlers of Tomorrow" from all parts of the Bay Area were on hand to compete for the many trophies. Appropriate resolutions were presented by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and the City Council of Daly City as part of the opening ceremonies Saturday morning.

As the Wednesday evening 835 Scratch League came to an end, the Sun Valley Dairy team took top honors as Secretary Rudy Paquette led the scoring with a 214 game and 587 series.

Frank Judge of the Western Envelope League bowled 104 pins over his average, not in a three game series, but in a single game. With a 122 average, Frank shot a great 226 game and 494 series to lead the league.

Three bowlers topped the 600 mark in the Golden Gate Handicap League as Dick Evert led the strike parade with a 625 series on games of 255-212 and 158. Other high rollers were Joe Moeller with 227-159 and 223 for a 609 total and George Feereboeuf with a 605 series on games of 193-212 and 200.

Champions of the Country Club League for the season was the Honeywell Team with Tony Lazzeri led the scoring on the final night of competition with games of 190-254 and 188 for a big 632 series.

Carl's Chevron Station team was crowned champions of the 807 Scratch League with Bob Wilson leading the scoring with a 599 series on games of 223-161 and 215.

This is Spring-Summer League Sign up time at Westlake Bowl as beginning and experienced bowlers are selecting spots for summer fun. With Scratch and handicap leagues for every type of bowler, it is expected that there will be many new members of leagues attending the organizational meetings which will start next week. Information as to nights and times of various leagues may be obtained by calling Rick or Frank at 756-5777.

Mary Freyslaben and Joe Keesey led the Southgate Mixed Fives League for the week as Mary rolled a 174 game and 465 series and Joe shot a 603 series on games of 197-197 and 209. Odessa Zumwalt was the leading lady for the week in the Ladies Invitational League shooting a 216 game and 584 series.

Westlake Bowl day at the Guardsmen's Tournament has been set for April 23. There will be a special "Fizz Breakfast" at the Bowl at nine o'clock with bowling set for eleven. Leading the squad will be Frank Falconi of the Cattleman's Club and Ed Castagnetto of Castagnetto Roofing who will be competing in a special team match while at the same time helping to send some deserving boys to summer camp. Reservations for the squad may be made at the desk.

Dot Mize took home 2440 Blue Chip Stamps in the Monday afternoon Blue Chip Bonanza followed by Samantha Jones with 1450, Bernice Bundersen with 1100, Cele Murray with 1080 and Ethel Arjo with 1020. More and more ladies are on hand at 1:15 each Monday afternoon to win Blue Chip Stamps while at the same time enjoying bowling relaxation.

Our Junior 900 team is back on the winning trail as they took two games from the San Carlos Bowl team and are now one half game out of fifth place. Craig Headmau led the scoring last time out with a 554 series on a 218 game, followed by Gary Pollock with a 210 game and 546 series.

Bob Peters was third high with 200 and 545. Next Sunday 176.

THE POST
Wednesday, April 5, 1967

at 4 p.m., our boys meet the Serra Travelers at Cloverleaf Bowl and Coach Rich Brewer has expressed the opinion that he wouldn't be surprised if our boys took three victories.

Gail Sobel won her "100 Pins Over Average" award last week in the Tuesday Rebels League. Gail rolled a 550 series with a high game of 222. Peg Miller took second high honors with 200-518 while Dee Arnett bowled a 192 game and 516 series to take third spot.

In the 99ers Mixed Fives League, Tom Millane "shot up a storm" to lead the league for the evening as he started with 232, shot a 157 second game and bounced back with a big 237 final effort. Natalie Piscitello took leading lady honors with a 491 series and a high game of 217.

Referral Center Proposed

The War on Poverty is moving into Daly City.

A proposal to open a small information and referral center in the north county city was received with enthusiasm last week by the County Human Resources Commission.

The commission was not in a position to give final approval but passed a motion to "make every effort to fund this program."

George T. Riley, acting HRC director, said that if it becomes necessary funds will be deducted from other similar centers in the county, including the one in San Mateo.

"The goals are well defined," Riley told the commission, "and emphasize services for youth and general employment. Due to the lack of nearby welfare agencies, the center would work toward encouraging extension of services in this area, and transporting the poor to the services."

As proposed, the center would have a staff of one full-time director and three half-time aides. The budget for the first year would be $25,116, of which $19,806 would be federal and $5,310 local money.

Betsy Blom, vice chairman of Community Interaction Through You (CITY), a volunteer citizens group that drew up the proposal, told the commission that it was a "minimum program." She said the center would attempt to prove itself that its services could be expanded in future years. Miss Blom said an effort would be made to get volunteers to work in the center.

Riley said the city has been approached about the possibility of donating office space.

"The visitor driving through Daly City would be hard put to identify by sight any evidence of poverty generally seen in areas of the East, such as Appalachia," the proposal states.

"Compared with the rest of San Mateo County, Daly City ranks among the three poorest socio-economic units."

Programs suggested for the center: distributing information relative to employment, community services and educational opportunities; working with others to develop in youth the ability to get and hold a job.

THE SHAPE of things to come on top of hill behind the Sea Bowl and Rockaway Beach in Pacifica can be seen as the new route of Sea Bowl Drive—Fassler Avenue extension becomes evident. Graders are cutting new road-bed into old route that provides short-cut to top of Crespi Drive and Terra Nova Boulevard. New Laguna Salada School District facility will be built where road presently runs. (Post Photo)

Marijuana Possession Is Charged

A Pacifica 20-year-old, Dennis W. Mellox, and three juveniles were charged with possession of marijuana Saturday.

Pacific police officers reported they had found smoked marijuana cigarettes in the ashtray of the car in which the four had been parked on Beach Boulevard, near Carmel.

The authorities noted that Patrolmen Jim Howell and Lyle McCoy were on routine patrol at 2:30 a.m., Sunday, when they saw the parked car.

In an on-the-scene search of the vehicles, the officers found three hypodermic syringes and two packages of cigarette rolling paper.

They took the four to the police station for further questioning, then began a more intensive search of the car.

The smoked cigarettes were discovered at that time, the officers stated.

Mellox, of 295 Seaside, Pacifica, was booked into the South San Francisco jail, while the juveniles were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

Wife Follows Hubby Into County Jail

Ned and Leslie Gentile of 758 Mills Avenue, San Bruno, carried together to the extreme recently when both ended up in county jail on charges of drunken driving.

The Gentiles' car was first stopped by Highway Patrolman M. J. Hannigan at 12:10 a.m. on Bayshore Freeway in Burlingame. Hannigan said the car was going about 90 and was weaving from lane to lane.

Ned Gentile, 31-year-old bellman for a San Francisco hotel, was taken to the county jail and his wife was allowed to drive the car home.

Later on, Mrs. Gentile, 30, set out for Redwood City to bail her husband out of jail.

At 3:40 a.m., just before she reached her destination, the car was stopped once again, this time by Highway Patrolman J. L. Campbell. The officer made the same observation that Hannigan had made — the auto had been weaving badly from lane to lane.

Mrs. Gentile flunked a sobriety test just as her husband had and was taken to county jail.

As it turned out, her trip was not necessary because Gentile had bailed out a half-hour before she was arrested.

RAMONA PORTILLO, 19, of 201 Pine Street, South San Francisco, will be the youngest member of the County Human Resources Commission when her appointment is confirmed by the Board of Supervisors. Miss Portillo was elected at a town hall meeting in Moreros Hall. She was graduated from South San Francisco High School last June and has a clerical job with a San Francisco firm. Other recent electees to the commission are Richard Garza of 303 Glencourt Way, Pacifica and Mrs. Helen Voss of 565 The Alameda, El Granada.

Crespi School Completion Next January Not Expected

There is some doubt whether the long-awaited Crespi School in Pacifica will be completed by January 1, 1968, the latest of many deadlines set for completion of the facility, Laguna Salada Union School District officials reported last week.

John Munt, financial assistant to the superintendent, said he is "still hopeful" the school will be completed when children return from the Christmas holidays, weather conditions have caused but recent delays because of some doubt.

The school, which will serve 550 elementary students when completed, has been plagued by delays since the project began over two years ago.

The district ran into difficulties in purchasing a portion of the site, and progress was halted for more than a year by court litigation.

Then troubles with site preparation began. Contractors misjudged the location of a rock formation and had to rebuild the terrace key, experienced difficulties in obtaining pipe for

No Decision On Church

South San Francisco planning commissioners tabled until April 10 an application from the Roman Catholic Church for a church-school complex use permit last week.

Commissioners also postponed action on a request from Ted Connolly for permission to construct a shopping center at the corner of Westborough Boulevard and Junipero Serra Freeway in a C-1 district.

Commissioners approved a use permit allowing the South San Francisco Unified School district to lease an eight-acre site adjacent to Parkway Junior High School to a truck farmer.

A request from the Airport

Drayage Co. for permission to locate a 119-square-foot illuminated sign on a building at 710 Dubuque Avenue in the city's M-2H district was also approved.

A use permit request from Art Rite Sign Co. to locate a 40-square-foot illuminated sign on Mission Road was granted, and commissioners approved a variance request allowing John Tamburini to construct a one-story dwelling at 172 Felipe Avenue.

A variance request from Donald E. Schumacher to permit enlargement of a one-story dwelling at 413 Dellbrook Avenue was also approved.

Site preparation is nearly complete at the district's other new school, Park Pacifica, and the board of trustees will receive bids on construction of the facility this week.

School officials anticipate the Crespi and Park Pacifica facilities will be completed at approximately the same time, and they will reduce the students load at the district's other schools by more than 1,000.

unusual amount of work time because of weather conditions.

Dist. Supt. Frederick Lucas said last month the delay in completion of the Crespi School will "in all probability" necessitate instituting a shift program at some other elementary schools in the area.

However, he said no busing of students is anticipated because of the situation.

Site preparation is nearly complete at the district's other new school, Park Pacifica, and the board of trustees will receive bids on construction of the facility this week.

School officials anticipate the Crespi and Park Pacifica facilities will be completed at approximately the same time, and they will reduce the students load at the district's other schools by more than 1,000.

Primrose Named Plant of the Week

A row of Polyanthus Primroses in the garden of the Angelo Dellacassas, 141 Victoria Road, Burlingame, is The Post Plant of the Week.

The Polyanthus Primroses, often called "English" primroses are a perennial that forms a tight clump or rosette of light green leaves from which flower clusters on eight to 12 inch stems arise. Individual flowers will measure from one to two inches in diameter and flower colors will encompass all the colors of the rainbow. If you are a color conscious gardener you should buy your primroses now while the nurseries are offering plants in bloom. Plants set out now will continue to bloom for some time and, given good care throughout the summer and fall, they will flower more heavily next year.

The Polyanthus Primroses available in this area are mostly the "Pacific Strain." These hybrids, developed by Frank Reinelt of the Vetterle & Reinelt Nursery, Capitola. They have received the highest awards from floricultureists all over the world.

Inasmuch as hundreds of seedling primrose plants from this nursery are sold in our area each year, we went to Frank Reinelt for some cultural suggestions. He said the first need was for light. The polyantha primroses want all the light they can get without too much direct sunshine. He suggested North or East exposures as South and West exposures are usually too hot and dry. A location in too much shade produces spindly plants with little or no blooms.

Angelo prepared his soil by digging in a liberal amount of leaf mold and steer manure. This agrees with Reinelt's suggestions which call for a "rich garden loam heavily enriched with well decayed manure and bone meal." He warned about planting in pure leaf mold or peat as these materials, used alone cannot support good primrose growth.

Angelo bought his plants last year and tended them carefully. He fertilized them early with blood meal but their performance was a disappointment. Last August he gave them another feeding of blood meal and this "woke 'em up." Reinelt says gardeners should watch the foliage on the primroses and try to maintain rich green thrifty leaves. From the young stage (this would be newly purchased and set out plants) on and until after flowering the plants should be fed with a balanced commercial fertilizer about once a month.

Reinelt stated that one of the main causes for a poor showing the second year was lack of after flowering care. After flowering has ceased and the foliage gets on the ratty side, cut it off and to dress the plants with a mixture of well rotted manure and rich garden loam at the ratio of one half loam and one-half manure. The reason for this, he explained, is that the new growth on the plants begins a root system at the top and the plants tend to work themselves out of the ground. A one-inch layer of the manure-loam mixture will prevent this.

Don't lift and divide polyanthus primroses until you have to, as it takes a year for them to recover strength enough to perform well again. When they are definitely overcrowded, lift the plants after flowering, divide and replant immediately in fresh soil.

Watering is important. Angelo waters his plants regularly during the summer and fall. Reinelt also keeps the soil moist around his plants throughout the year.

Red spider is the primrose's worst pest. It will destroy plants in dry, hot summer weather unless controlled. Badly affected foliage should be cut off and the rest of the foliage be sprayed with isotox. The new foliage will come clean. In rainy weather blackspots may disfigure the leaves but these do no real harm. A weak solution of manzate will control the spots.

These two materials are compatible so may be combined and used as a complete spray.

The polyanthus primroses may be grown from seed. Started now, or during April, will provide well established plants for flowering next winter. Seed and instructions for planting may be obtained from the nursery in Capitola.

Boat Burns In Marina

Fire that apparently started with the explosion of gasoline in a can in the cabin caused an estimated $1,175 damage on a 25-foot boat berthed at the Oyster Point Marina in South San Francisco Saturday.

Firemen who responded to the 3:55 p.m. call placed damage to the craft at $1,000 and to contents at $175. Cushions, curtains and wood paneling were damaged aboard the boat, owned by Lew Williams of San Francisco. Boaters in an adjacent craft saw the blaze and started to fight the fire with their extinguisher.

Home Garden Cuts Cost Of Vegetables

In today's affluent, leisure-oriented society, more and more families are turning to home gardening both to cut food costs and to provide family recreation.

The average family of four uses 304 quarts of green beans per year, according to USDA figures. With new improved varieties, raising at least a part of this total is easy, say vegetable growing experts at Northrup King & Co.

Beans are especially popular because they keep producing if they are kept picked. And with improving freezing techniques, preserving the extra production is easy. Once the beans are picked, washed and cut, it only takes ten minutes to get them to the freezer (three minutes in rapidly boiling water, three minutes in ice cold water and four minutes to fill the freezer cartons.)

But even if you only use the fresh from the garden beans, the fresh, tender, sweet, flavorful vegetable gives a lift to summer appetites. And preparing for and caring for beans and your family's other favorite foods makes an interesting, money saving hobby for the whole family.

One large seed company offers 32 bean varieties and almost 250 vegetable varieties in their seed racks. This selection of varieties included in local racks are those specifically adapted to that area, company horticulturists point out. Visit your favorite nursery, select a food item to add to your gardening fun and your table.

Crestmoor Club Meet Is Tonight

Crestmoor Garden Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Crestmoor Elementary School. Guest speaker for the evening will be Billy Grant, on "Food for Thought."

Grant was born into show business and has participated in all phases of the entertainment field as a performer, writer and producer for radio, television and stage. He is both a student and teacher of the art of public speaking. Currently he is the author of the book "Speaking Frankly."

California Lets You Accent The Unusual in Your Garden

Gardeners in California, especially here on the Peninsula, have it luckier than those who have green thumbs in other states. Our benign climate permits gardening a minimum of 300 days out of each year and at the same time, it permits the use of many more, often spectacular, plant materials. We can accent plants that residents of other states can only read about.

The bottle-brushes are an excellent example. These are highly unusual shrubs, seldom seen in colder climates than ours. Yet, in the mild areas of California, they grow so easily they are almost commonplace. Natives of Australia, they adapt well to the similar California climate, thriving outdoors here, while gardeners in colder states may grow them only under glass.

If you are not familiar with the bottle-brushes, picture an actual brush for cleaning bottles, substitute scarlet stamens for the bristles, put them on a gray shrub, and you've got the picture. They really provide the gardener with an unusual accent shrub and one of many uses.

The bottle-brushes are available in a dozen or more forms, ask any local member of the California Association of Nurserymen to show you several next time you go shopping. Most familiar is the Scarlet Bottle-Brush (Callistemon phoeniceus), a six to eight foot high shrub with light green to gray leaves and rich red "brushes" four or more inches long that bloom in spring and again in fall. Nurserymen list it as a drought resistant shrub (it actually does better in moist, well drained soil) that is excellent for planting along a fence or against the sunny wall of a house.

Next in popularity is the McCaskill Bottle-Brush (a selected variety of C. Viminalis) a weeping or pendulous shrub or small tree, usually pruned into the latter form, which carries the familiar red brushes on trailing branches from May to July. This bottle-brush has a dwarf form and C. phoeniceus has a prostrate form that is excellent for planting on banks.

For that really warm spot in the garden plant one of the Calliandras, nurserymen carry three of the more than 250 varieties. C. tweedii, known in the trade as the "Trinidad Flame Bush". This makes a shrub six to eight feet tall and five to eight feet wide. The dark green foliage is finely cut, other two it is evergreen.

even lacy in appearance. The summer blooms are bright scarlet pompons that appear on the ends of the branches. Calliandra inaequilatera is popularly known as the "Pink Powder Puff" due to the big two to three inch cluster of silky, watermelon pink balls of stamens that decorate the plant from October to March. The third variety of Calliandra you may find is native to Imperial and eastern San Diego Counties. It is C. eriophylla known as the "Fairy Duster". This is a low growing plant that reaches a bare three feet in height with a spread of four or five feet. The leaves are finely cut into tiny leaflets and from February or March, depending on the temperature, it sports a mass of ping to red stamens in fluffy balls about one and a half inches in diameter. Girl Scouts Hear Girl Guide Leader

In recognition of Girl Scout 65's association with the World Association of Girl Guides, at least two area troops recently entertained guests.

Troop 65, under the leadership of Mrs. Philip Foster, had as a special guest, Miss Elizabeth Lawrence, a Girl Guide leader. This was Miss Lawrence's first visit to an American Girl Scout troop.

In speaking to the children present, Brownie troops 1963 and 442 and Junior troop 736, she outlined scouting as it started in England under Lady Baden-Powell, who is still living, the origin of Girl Guides and the participation of Queen Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and Anne in the Rangers in England. Miss Lawrence is now a nurse at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

Troop 715, with Mrs. Isabell Hildick the leader, at an international friendship program, entertained Mrs. Fred Malmstrom, who had visited our Chaleit at Adelboden, Switzerland. She presented the troop with a plaque from London on World Association and presented Mrs. Hildick with the Edelweiss pin from the Chaleit.

Refreshments in honor of "international friendship" included Jasmine tea, Swiss chocolate, and Danish cookies.

YWCA Sets Special April Tour, Lunch

Sunset magazine and the Allied Arts Guild are featured in the San Mateo County YWCA's April special event.

April 11 is the date of the tour luncheon, which is open to the public.

The tour group will leave the YWCA office in Daly City at 9:30 a.m. by car pool, according to Mrs. Robert Washford, special events chairman.

They will reassemble at 10:30 a.m. at Sunset magazine, Middlefield and Willow roads, Menlo Park. The guided tour will include the test kitchens, travel and garden centers. At noon, the group will meet at Allied Arts Guild, at Arbor Road and Creek Drive, Menlo Park, for luncheon. The craft and gift shops will be open to browse in after lunch. The $3.50 ticket includes the lunch.

Tickets are available now and may be secured through April 7 from the YWCA office, 375 South Mayfair, Daly City; Mrs. Washford, 285 Belhaven Drive, Daly City, and Mrs. James Golder, 656 Higate Drive, Daly City.

Daly City Girl Is Wed in North Carolina Church

Rinice Lynn Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Phillips of Daly City, became the bride of Lt. John Hilary Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings of Millbrae, at the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Fayetteville, N.C.

Rinice attended San Francisco State College after graduation from Westmoor High School. John, a Westmoor graduate, is a member of the Special Forces at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The couple will soon move to Monterey where the bridegroom will attend Indonesian Language School. When he is finished there, the couple will be going to Okinawa to live.

Magician's Show Due at Fairmont

Jan Ballan, the magician, will entertain at Fairmont School on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the multi-purpose room.

Ballan's program will be made up of selections such as the "Miraculous ball multiplication," "sympathetic handkerchiefs," "betwisted tubes," "three boys and a rope," "silk wonders," and "mysterious exchange." Throughout the program children from the audience are asked to help "make magic."

Proceeds will go to the purchase of trees and shrubs to add to the landscaping of Fairmont School now under way.

RABBI'S EVENING

Wednesday, April 19, Temple Judea Brotherhood will have its annual "Evening With the Rabbi." No host cocktails will be available from 6 to 7 p.m. and will be followed by an Italian dinner, complete with wine, for $2 per person. After dinner, a movie will be shown, "Anyone Around My Base Is It."

JUDEA EVENT

Temple Judea will hold a Bid and Buy Nosherie on April 22, at 8:30 p.m. at the Temple's Fellowship Hall. Twenty-five pieces of new merchandise valued at $10 to $25 each will be offered ticket holders.

Wedding Vows Exchanged On Silver Anniversary

John Michel Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Montgomery of San Bruno, was married on his parent's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary to Nancy Ellen Salisbury.

The couple recited vows at the West End Baptist Church in Freeport, Tex.

Nancy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earsel Salisbury, walked down the aisle in a gown of white peau de soie trimmed with galoon lace. Satin roses held her elbow length veil.

Karen Kay Kieck preceded the bride down the aisle as maid of honor. She wore an Empire gown of ice blue chiffon over peau de soie. Robert Coffin served as John's best man.

The bridegroom is a Capuchino High School alumnus and attended Willamette University and the College of San Mateo.

After a reception at the Freeport Community House, the Mrs. Montgomery donned a navy blue suit with white accessories for a wedding trip to California. When the couple arrived in San Bruno, the elder Montgomerys gave a reception for them at their home.

ST. VERONICA'S Church in South San Francisco will be the site of the July 15 marriage of Kathleen Ann Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kelly of South San Francisco and Louis Francis Ercoli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Ercoli of South San Francisco. Louis graduated from the University of San Francisco. (Faulkner Photo)

For Parents Who Desire the Best

Parents seeking a summer camp in which their boy or girl will gain the most from the summer vacation invariably turn to the private camp, with its longer camp season, its controlled enrollment and its program carefully adjusted to the interests and abilities of the children in camp. The director of the private camp, free from obligation to any superior organization, selects the experiences, situations and personalities which he feels will best express the idealism of his particular camp.

Refer now to the Summer Camp column in the Classified section of today's Times for an excellent selection of camps and schools.

CALLING ALL HOMEMAKERS

By Donald C. Waite
SOME BASIC RULES CONCERNING CARPET

In buying floor coverings, remember that the better quality costs less over the years. Ask yourself, "How much will it cost per year rather than per square yard?" Should you buy wall-to-wall or room-size rugs? There are advantages to each, and the answer depends on the size of your room and your personal preference.

Wall-to-wall is extremely popular because it makes a room look larger, less cluttered and easy to vacuum. However, many people prefer room-size rugs because there's no installation cost, and they don't cover all of a beautiful floor.

Room-size rugs are cut from 9-, 12- and 15-foot width broadloom and may be had in any length to fit almost any room. They should be cut to fit approximately within 6 inches from the walls.

Area rugs are more popular than ever for their dramatic effect. They may be had in any size and shape to suit your particular needs. Of course, they should only be used when you have a very lovely hard surface flooring underneath which you want to show. Area rugs should always be cut large enough not to look skimpy.

We invite you to see our big selection of colors and textures in all types of carpet. There is no cost or obligation. We'll be happy to show you samples.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience or call PL 6-7500.

'International Night' Planned Jeff Elementary P-TA Offers Event

The second annual "International Night" will be sponsored by the P-TA unit of Jefferson Elementary School April 5.

Many nationalities are represented in the student body of the school and students and parents will perform songs and dances typical of their national backgrounds.

Dishes of many countries will be served, to enhance the "flavor" of the evening.

At this meeting the new officers for the year 1967-1968 term will be installed.

Pete Hansen, principal of John F. Kennedy School, will be installing officer.

Those taking office are:
President, Mrs. Maureen Taylor; vice president, Mrs. Juanita Perada; recording secretary, Harriet Mierly; corresponding secretary, Clara Karatochvil; treasurer, Pat Gigli; auditor, Hildy Wilby; historian, Pat Craviotto.

Women's Changing Role To Be Summed in Talk

"The Changing Role of Women" is the topic for the second in a series of programs about family life to be presented by the Pacific Heights P-TA April 13 at 8 p.m.

The guest speaker, Dr. Ruth Kokjer, psychologist, will discuss various aspects of the modern woman's role in society, including: the changing relationship between the sexes, the complex problems and advantages of the working mother, the frustrations of the "trapped" housewife, including drinking problems and the trends in upbringing and education of children as the mother's role assumes more importance in the family.

Dr. Kokjer, who earned her doctoral degree at Stanford University, has taught or supervised every grade level from kindergarten through graduate school. For 3½ years she served as a captain in the armed forces and for 16 years has been a school psychologist and conducted a private practice in San Mateo County.

She is currently school psychologist for Hillsborough School District. The program, which will include the installation of 1967-68 P-TA officers, will be held in Trojan Hall, Pacific Heights School, Pacific Heights Boulevard and Colby Way, San Bruno.

School, Pacific Heights Boulevard and Colby Way, San Bruno.

Jefferson Elementary MENU

April 6 — Chili burger, Miami salad, buttered vegetable, ice cream, cake.

April 7 — Hamburger on bun, French fried potato, combination salad, fruit.

April 10 — Savory meat loaf with tomato sauce, fluffy whipped potato, buttered corn, bread, frosted cake.

April 11 — Hot dog on bun, potato salad, sliced tomato, fruit, cookies.

April 12 — Roast turkey with gravy, buttered rice, buttered peas, fresh fruit, hot bread.

MARCIA MOAKLER
Engaged

Judea Sisterhood To Hear Hallinan

What promises to be one of the highlights of the year will take place at Temple Judea Sisterhood's meeting on April 11 at the Temple Fellowship Hall.

An evening meeting to start at 8 p.m., the speaker will be Patrick S. Hallinan, the young, controversial San Francisco attorney.

His subject will be "Abortion and the Bielenso Bill."

Bride-Elect To Marry In Summer

A July wedding has been calendared by Marcia Moakler of South San Francisco and John Raymond Wiggins. Their engagement was announced recently by the bride-elect's father, Edward P. Moakler of South San Francisco.

Marcia, who attended Mercy High School and The College of San Mateo, is the daughter of the late Mrs. Moakler and sister of Patricia and Kathleen Moakler.

John, who is attending the Navy Nuclear Prototype School in Idaho Falls, Idaho, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arlen Wiggins of Derby, Kan. He is the brother of Connie, Cyrus, April and Mathew Wiggins. The future bridegroom attended Douglas High School in Kansas.

Cubs Share Pinewood Derby Wins

Cub Pack 292 recently held its annual Pinewood Derby, when cars carved, designed and painted by the boys were entered for two categories:

First place for all-around best car was awarded Steven Bischoff, who received a trophy. Second place for best design went to Steven Wilkinson, who received a Cub Scout scrapbook.

Third place for originality was won by Peter Di Pasqua, who received a Blue Ribbon.

First place in the speed class was captured by Di Pasqua, while second place went to David Heim. Third place was won by Michael Stender.

Donald Brodhead, Peter Geis, Larry O'Neill and Keith Thickett helped with the racing.

MR. AND MRS. Edward Nolan of San Bruno announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Frank Ruona, at a family dinner party recently. The couple is planning a fall wedding. Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ruona of San Bruno. Both he and his future bride attended Capuchino High School. He went on to the University of Santa Clara and Barbara attended San Jose State College. The future bride is the sister of Toni Nolan and Lee Ann Nolan. Frank is the brother of Bill Ruona, Kit Ruona and Beth Ruona. (Staggs Photo)

Bayshore Stages Pupil Easter Hat Contest

The annual Easter Hat Parade sponsored by the Bayshore P-TA was held at Robertson School, and was held exclusively for the students of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

The students' hats were judged on originality, fashion and self application.

Cash prizes were awarded winners, for their time and effort.

Recipients of awards were: Ellen Pucci, Albert Leong, Leslie Ryes, Michael Azzopardi, and Arlene Leonidas.

Miss Leonidas was chosen grand winner, for having the most original creation. Volunteering services as judges were Mmes. Frank Barbara, Ernest Raffo and Charles Pifer.

Girl Scout Help For Rummage Sale

Junior Troop 511, Girl Scouts, are designing and painting signs as their service project to help publicize the rummage sale of Golden Gate Kindergarten Associate Auxiliary which will be held at the Hall of Flowers, Golden Gate Park on April 18. Mrs. Richard Rossi of Westlake, is poster chairman.

All proceeds of the sale will benefit the needy nursery school children of the Phoebe A. Hearst Pre-school Learning center.

Series Opener

Louanne Heath

NEXT WEDNESDAY has been selected as the opening date for the new College of San Mateo series to be presented in Pacifica under the sponsorship of the Community Cultural Co-ordinating Committee.

According to Mrs. Enid Emde, chairman of the project, the series will be titled "Ethical Ambiguities in Modern Life and Death," and will deal with such controversial subjects as abortion, the pill, LSD, and euthanasia versus the continuation of life by artificial means.

The four lectures will be held on successive Wednesday evenings at the Fairmont School on Edgewood at El Dorado Drive in Pacifica. An attorney, a minister and three medical specialists will take part in the programs, according to Mrs. Shirley Drye, publicity chairman.

The tickets, costing $3 for the four meetings, are now being sold at the recreation department office in the Pacifica City Hall, and at the Dal Pac Art Gallery in Pacific Manor. Persons may also register by writing to the College of San Mateo Box Office, 1700 West Hillsdale Boulevard in San Mateo. One unit of philosophy will be available to those who wish to take the course for college credit.

ANOTHER COMMUNITY Cultural Co-ordinating Committee (C.C.C.C.) project, drawing lessons for beginning and advanced art students, got under way last Saturday morning but Mrs. Katherine Henwood, 359-1719, and Mrs. Lucy Muir, 359-1089, will accept late registrations for the remainder of this week, according to Mrs. Drye.

Lawrence-Louis Ruiz-Reese will be offering instruction in composition, color relationships and more than a smattering of art history during the classes which will run until May 20.

Mrs. Drye reports that the classes appeal to everyone from young mothers to grandmothers, from members of art guilds to rank amateurs. Mrs. Beverly Crennan, Mrs. Lynne Flodin, Mrs. Lillian Blackburn, Mrs. Alice Johnson, and Mrs. Claire Early of Pacifica, Mrs. Louise Jorgenson of Daly City, and Del Francesco of San Carlos are among those who have had the course previously.

JOE DOVICH, who made such a delightfully bouncy leprechaun on St. Patrick's Day, was absent from rehearsals of the Daly City community chorus this past week as the result of a leg injury which will keep him from doing much bouncing for some time.

New members who were officially welcomed into the chorus in March are Mrs. Shirley Spence, Al Beall and Marian Kramer.

According to Mrs. Ann Peters, publicity chairman, the chorus has issued an open invitation to representatives of clubs and lodges in the area to attend chorus rehearsals any Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the Westmoor Park Clubhouse. If the group appears to be suitable, the group could then arrange booking by contacting Mrs. Pat Lessard, of the recreation department, or calling 992-4500.

MRS. RUTH HILL, chairman of the Rev. and Mrs. Mark B. Moore Circle, and Mrs. Marge Ross, both of Westlake, will be in charge of tea table arrangements when the Women's Association of Lakeside Presbyterian Church presents "Famous Mothers of the World," starring Grace Bush, in a dramatic musical production on Saturday, April 15 at 1 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The tea will follow Miss Bush's performance and Mrs. Shaul Yosiph, and the members of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Gray Circle will be in charge of the refreshments. All circles will be contributing delicacies.

According to Mrs. Troy Daniels, publicity chairman, tickets costing $1 will be sold at the door.

BEANS, BEER, AND BURLAP was the theme-title of Saturday evening's rollicking kickoff dinner for the Golden Gate Kindergarten Association Auxiliary Rummage sale.

Admittance to the bash, held in the Anchor Steam Brewery, was by donation to the box of rummage and auxiliary members wore clothes which they later doffed to place in the sale barrel.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Freedman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hardens, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Rigetti, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rossi were among the localities who attended and competed in the contest for the prize given to the couple wearing the wildest conglomeration of rummage items.

MRS. IRENE GADBOUT, Mrs. Vera Leuty, Mrs. Betty Lingenfelter, and Mrs. Lise Sibley became members of the Beta Sigma chapter of the Epsilon Sigma Alpha International sorority during transfer ceremonies held recently in the home of Mrs. Cletus Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wagner Jr., were the surprised guests of honor at a potluck dinner celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Manderscheid of Los Angeles joined forces with the Wagner's other two offspring, Gary and Dianne Wagner, to arrange the dinner right in the Wagner's own Daly City home.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wagner Sr., of Westlake; Mr. and Mrs. Thor Peterson of Santa Rosa, Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Battle and son of Modesto, and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Schuman, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Guthert, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Naroki and Donald Bergeson, Margy Browning, and Mrs. Frank Silva, all from the Bay Area.

THE EVENING TRAINING program for newly recruited Blue Bird and Camp Fire leaders will get under way this evening at 7 p.m. in the Hillcrest school, 810 Silver Avenue in San Francisco, according to Mrs. Mildred Pierce, chairman of the training committee.

The day-time course, being held at the United Presbyterian Church, 1740 Sloat Boulevard in San Francisco, began yesterday. Subsequent sessions will be held in the church on April 11, 18 and 25 beginning at 10 a.m.

Members of the Riordan Guild will meet next Tuesday in Chaminade Hall at 8 p.m. to hear the Rev. Donald Bracht, S.M., report on his tour of Marianist missions. Members will receive the report of the nominating committee and vote on officers for the coming year during the business portion of the meeting.

Mrs. Jerry Stringer, the president (seated left), received a gold charm bracelet and key emblem of the Florence Crittenton Home. Standing (left to right) are Mmes. Eugene Crandall, John Wuerther and Richard Ceddoni. Seated with Mrs. Stringer and Mrs. Lawrence is Mrs. Charles Poggio. (Post Photo)

Mrs. Cushing To be Feted By Sorority

Mrs. Marvin Cushing will be honored at Xi Lambda Sigma Exemplar chapter's Preferential Tea April 9, between 2 and 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. M. Sheridan of No. 7 Fountain Avenue, South San Francisco.

The unit's president, Mrs. Gino Pettinari and Vice President Mrs. Harry Johnson will pour at the lace-covered tablecloth decorated with the sorority's yellow rose.

Mrs. Cushing will be pledged at the Founders' Day Banquet to be held at the Brentwood Lodge, South San Francisco, on April 27, when Mrs. Edward Dominon and Mrs. Jams Fernando will receive the ritual of Jewels degree and Mrs. Ralph Faver the Exemplar degree.

The annual event will be sponsored by the Northern Peninsula Inter-City Council, commemorating the thirty-sixth anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi.

Dance Class For Adults Is Launched

A new beginning social dance class for adults offered by the daily City Recreation Department started last night. The classes are being held for a five-week period on Tuesday evenings at Westlake School, 80 Fieldcrest Drive. There will also be an intermediate class starting on the same date, at 8:30 p.m.

The classes, under the direction of Bill and Helen Morrow, will provide basic instruction in all the popular dances.

ELECTION
(April 18)

VOTE IT'S YOUR DUTY!

BUT KNOW WHY YOU VOTE!

Keep control in the hands of dedicated people.

VOTE... YES

If you want to continue with an efficient, dignified Board of Education.

VOTE... YES

If you want to provide the monies for continued quality in our educational programs.

VOTE... YES

If you are concerned with the rising cost of education and want to be assured of the best value for your money and your children.

VOTE... YES

If you are a responsible citizen who cares enough to exercise your sacred franchise in a government by the people.

VOTE... YES

If you want a selfless, dedicated man who has made no promises to anyone and who is free to act as an individual.

VOTE... YES

If you want a school system in which all phases of education are the sole responsibility of the teachers through the principals as directed by the Superintendent of Schools.

Don't Vote ... If

You want to return to the bickering.

Don't Vote ... If

You are moved by false economies proposed by uninformed candidates.

Don't Vote ... If

Just to defeat the budget. The costs are real. They won't go away. They will return to haunt you another day—WITH INTEREST.

Don't Vote ... If

You are satisfied to have 7% to 20% of the eligible voters make your decision for you.

Don't Vote ... If

You seek the return of political prestige seekers.

Don't Vote ... If

You want a system in which professional people are directed by nonprofessionals and denied the opportunity to function to their full potential.

RE-ELECT TO THE JEFFERSON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BOARD

Villa Hotel Opens Upper Level—"Just for Steaks"

GREAT NEWS for those with big steak appetites: The luxurious Villa Hotel will debut its new Upper Level "Just for Steaks" April 6 through April 8 (these are the grand opening dates) for your dining pleasure. Here, you may enjoy a delightful steak dinner served in regal fashion, backdropped with an old English decor and atmosphere, which includes a cozy fireplace. Service will be from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m., Tuesday through Saturdays. Limited seating capacity, so plan an early visit. Don't forget, enjoy dancing during the evening to the music of George Cerrutti's Trio in the Villa Lounge.

The Nishiki Dinner at Toshio Kiyohara's Iritune (East 17th Avenue, San Mateo) includes Suimono (clear broth), Sunomono (salad with vinegar dressing), Sukiyaki, and Tempura. For those not familiar with Japanese cooking, this is a perfect meal for an introduction.

TALENTED GARY LONG is the "Music Man" at Fred and Jerry Rapp's South San Francisco Holiday Inn. He presides over the piano bar from 8 p.m. to midnight Monday through Thursday in the Lancer Lounge. On weekends, Gary takes his trio to the stage of the Royal Hall for your dancing pleasure from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. No cover and no minimum. . . Sly and the Family Stone, one of the Bay Area's hottest acts, are appearing at Wayne Manor, this week. Finals in the Talent Contest for the Trip to the Bahamas are drawing near. There's still time to qualify for the Tuesday Dance Contest and the Mexico City prize. Look for a big "Happening" here soon! . . . Fabbro's in Redwood City continues to be one of the top Peninsula spots serving Veal Scallopini with a flare "Italiano." However, host-owner Frank Fabbro claims this dish to be just one of his house specialties. Evening diners here have the extra treat of being served by attractive waitresses Mary Mace and Ann Nolan.

THE QUALITIES that made A. Sabella's famous B. F. (before the fire) are once again outstandingly available to the dining out public at Lucien Sabella's fabulous, new A. Sabella's restaurant on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf. The same efficient kitchen staff has been engaged to take over the duties in the culinary department — but in a kitchen twice the size of the former one. There are many new additions to the menu, which, for many years, has kept A. Sabella's restaurant name at the top of the "fine cuisine" list. The dancing crowds are delighted to have Joe Marcellino and his Orchestra bandstand for dinner-dancing Monday through Sunday. . . Ralph Le Pinski, Manager of Stickney's of San Mateo, reports that the Fifth Avenue Center restaurant is now scheduling nearly a banquet a day. Groups from as far south as Sunnyvale and as far north as San Francisco are now holding breakfast, luncheon and dinner banquets in the downstairs private banquet facilities. A private bar and dance floor also included.

SIL OLIVA'S EXPOSITION FISH GROTTTO has been the gathering place for famous sports figures and their guests since its doors many years ago. For some real fun, have Sil Oliva or Hosts Angie Rosasco and Harold Varni spin a few yarns about the days when Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, used to stop in for "bull sessions." The current topic seems to be baseball, naturally, and these sports-minded guests are "information unpires." . . . The lovely contestants in the Miss San Mateo County Pageant were hosted by the Carrousel du Soleil at one of the restaurant's famous Sunday Brunches. Chef Chuck Pierce presented a special cake and trophy to pretty Linda Heider of San Mateo, who was hobnobbing with crutches — a basketball player fell on her pretty leg. Sketches of the girls were drawn by artist Ruth Griffin. . .

THE ARRAY OF TALENT at the Cameo Club in Palo Alto is most impressive. Newcomers to the stage are Roger Riddle, emcee and funnyman par excellence; Eve Allen, the songstress, is as easy on the eyes as on the ears. Rena Renee, Kammi from Miami, and Irish Topless Kathy Kelly do the undressing. . . Pancho's down Redwood City way offers an inexpensive way to enjoy dinner in an attractive "South of the Border"-like setting. The Mexican cuisine is superb, with prices being matching. The "Fiesta Plate" is a popular dinner favorite (includes an enchilada, with rice and beans) . . . With countless young swingers out of school for Easter vacation, the Syndrome in Burlingame enjoyed one of its most successful weeks ever. This lounge is "out of sight" on any day of the week, with Mr. Clean and his Uncalled Four being responsible for the wild musical antics.

JUAN GUERRERO, "The Golden Voice of Mexico" and a long-time Sinaloa favorite, returned to the Powell Street cantina by popular demand Monday, April 3. Recently completing a tour of leading niteries and casinos in South America, Juan's vocal stint on the local scene will be limited. Also featured in the fast-moving "Holiday in Mexico" production are Maria Dolores and Miguel Santos, one of the real great Latin dance teams of show business today. Vivacious Vickie Alvarez, "Miss Sex Appeal," continues to delight the Sinaloa crowds with her audience participation numbers. "Two-for-one" Mexican dinners are once again a Sinaloa menu feature. This package well deserves your "evening of fun" attention. . . Cafe El Portal by Golden Gate Park, a sentimental favorite of San Franciscans, celebrated its Forty-sixth Easter. Understand a new dining record was set. . .

Gomans' Gay 60's

Gomans' Gay 60's The "90's" Are Gone

Everything will be new and different, as of tonight at Gomans' Gay 60's on San Francisco's Broadway. Yes, that's right! Gomans' Gay 60's, not 90's.

The new policy will have Rene Redman, a flying topless girl, a topless trampoline girl, an electronic light show, the colors of sound, amateur topless contest, Russell Lee and The Sleepwalkers featuring Birdie Lee, a huge dance floor no cover charge, park at the door and all of this wild going on at the Gay 60's from 7 p.m. every evening.

This being the start of the heavy banquet season, it would be to your advantage to look into the party facilities offered at Nick's in Pacifica. Located just a stone's throw from the shores of the Pacific, Nick's affords ample free parking space for its breakfast, luncheon, dinner and banquet patrons seven nights a week. Don Kelly sets a swingin' pace at the organ Wednesday through Saturday nights; Friday and Saturday nights, Del Carlo and his Combo supply the dance tunes, and Mary Ann Hay sits in on the vocals.

Scotty Campbell's Number Two Location?

Don't be surprised if you see Scotty Campbell's restaurant name neoned in a second location. Host-owners Theresa, Mary Lou and Bud, who have been on the scout for another restaurant address, are very close to making a deal. Since taking over this Redwood City restaurant, business has been very gratifying. The fame of Scotty Campbell's prime rib and steak dinners has spread the way it should.

Shirley Jones Visits Finocchio's

There's almost always a packed house at Finocchio's revue of female impersonators on North Beach, but the crush in the lobby, the other night, was something special. The something special was Shirley Jones of stage and movie fame, who attended the show with a party of seven and stayed through two entire performances. Beautiful Shirley was mobbed between shows by autograph seekers. Laverne Cummings, the glamor singer of the revue, dedicated his number to Miss Jones.

Spaghetti Italiano Sandbagger Dining Room Special Treat

Spaghetti Italiano, served with salad, French bread, a glass of wine and coffee, is a special dinner treat served at the Redwood City Sandbagger Monday through Saturday from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. David McSwain's cocktail lounge and dinner house is also a fun spot.

Ron Giannotti, the "on-the-ball" Surf House restaurateur, noticed a Volkswagen cruising down the freeway, the other afternoon, with skis and a pair of crutches strapped to its top. "These Volkswagen owners think of everything," said the genial Ron.

A wide range of diners have eaten "Joe's Specials" in San Francisco North Beach. But even "Joe" would have to go some to beat "Vince's Special" as served right in San Mateo at Vince's Italian and seafood restaurant. Try it — you won't be sorry.

It's a pleasure to recommend the several different kinds and three different sizes of pizza served at Romano's in Pacifica. It's also packaged (piping hot) to take out. When they tagged Enrico Romano the "pizza king," they knew what they were doing.

Tonight's the night to take home a bucket of Foster's Farm-Fried Chicken. Includes chicken, biscuits, country gravy for five servings — and that's a real "bucket full."

D.C. Chamber To Honor 8 Students

Eight students from the combined student bodies of Jefferson Union High School and Westmoor High School will be honored by the Daly City Chamber of Commerce, local and county civic leaders on April 20.

The occasion is the eighth annual "Awards to Outstanding Students" night and is considered one of the most important events of the year which the Daly City Chamber sponsors, according to Elio A. Fontana, chamber committee chairman.

"Although only a few students are honored on this night, they represent a cross-section of many good students, having achieved high scholastic standards through hard work and perseverance," Fontana said.

"He said the Chamber wants people to realize the honest and sincere desire of local students to achieve high academic standards and that 'these young men and women will fill the needs of our community and our country in the years ahead.'"

The evening's honored guests include students and parents of the two schools involved, San Mateo County Superintendent of Schools, Dr. J. Russell Kent and his wife, and Daly City Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett.

The committee which must select the outstanding students consists of Chairman Fontana, Superior Court Judge Frank Blum, Northern Judicial District Judges Paul Hupf, F. de Larios and Charles Becker, and Joseph Lewkowitz.

Pacifican's Body Found

In Modesto the body of Russell West, 24, of Pacifica, who drowned in Woodward Reservoir two weeks ago, was recovered Friday.

West, a post office employee, had been fishing with his brother, Raymond, 27, and Charles Brewster, 27, both San Francisco police officers when their boat capsized.

Police Chief Leads Tour

Daly City Police Chief Roland A. Petrocchi conducted a guided tour of police facilities at the new city hall building Wednesday for some 300 civic leaders, council members, police and their families.

In less than a month the department will vacate their old facilities at 75 Wellington Avenue and move into new quarters at 333 Ninetieth Street — the huge, modernistic Civic Center complex.

Two tours, from noon to 2 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., were held for the visitors.

Larry Martindale, a six-foot junior from Augusta, Ark., is Mississippi's smallest basketball player this season. The team averages 6-4.

Trick Shot Wounds Boy

In San Bruno, with an unintentional trick shot an 18-year-old San Francisco boy shot himself in the finger, upper leg, and lower leg with a single bullet.

Christopher Torres III explained that his .22 caliber gun jammed while he was shooting tin cans. He sat down and rammed the bolt forward. That did it.

The doctor who treated him described the wounds as superficial.

TERRA NOVA SENIOR TERRY RADOMSKI is an obvious contestant in the "bean guessing" event to be a feature of the Terra Nova P-TA's "Spring Fling" carnival at the Pacifica high school April 8. Booths, games, contests, and refreshments — as well as awards like the stuffed tiger above — will be offered. (Post Photo)

COVER GIRL—Pacific Telephone service representative Colleen Holt visited the scene on the cover of the 1967 telephone directory. This year it is Pedro

Point at the south end of Pacifica. Colleen got a preview peek at the cover (which she is holding.)

New, Zip-Coded Phone Books Being Delivered

March (11) may roar out like a Lyon (33) but April (e) (2) will come in like a Lamb (33) with the new San Mateo County telephone directory.

The Marchs, the Lyons, the Aprils and the Lambs are among the 158,287 alphabetical listings contained in the directory being delivered to a quarter-million Pacific Telephone subscribers in the county.

An addition to this year's directory will be zip code numbers for all San Mateo County communities. The list will be located on the first yellow page, Freeman said.

The cover will be an aerial view of Pedro Point, which juts out into the Pacific at the south end of the city of Pacifica.

The 158,287 alphabetical listings this year represents an increase of 2,964 over last year. The white pages remain the same in number at 448 and the green pages stay at 32.

Yellow pages will increase by 32 pages to a total of 944.

The quarter-million directories to be delivered represent a sizable increase of 17,500.

Pacific Telephone's printers used 663 tons of paper to print the 1967 directory edition, broken down into 204 tons of white paper, 15 tons of green, 440 tons of yellow, and 14 tons of cover stock. The total is up 56 tons from a year ago.

AN ASSISTANT

After 17 years as an assistant coach, Moe Fassinger is coaching the Carnegie Tech basketball team this season.

Brown Act Expansion Is Opposed

Government leaders in Pacifica have gone "strongly" on record as opposing any extension or expansion of the Ralph M. Brown Act, which spells out how, when and under what conditions public bodies shall meet.

The Pacifica council followed the League of California Cities' stand against proposals to tighten up the act.

Proposed legislation would forbid government committees and subcommittees to meet in closed session and would no longer allow Pacifica City Attorney Conrad Reisch pointed out, government boards to confer behind closed doors with legal counsel on matters involving litigation.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy also wanted — and got — included in the Pacifica resolution the city's opposition to amendment of the Brown Act that would make mandatory disclosure beforehand of matters to be discussed in closed "executive sessions."

The Brown Act presently prohibits government bodies or their appointed agencies and units to exclude the public from meetings, other than previously announced executive sessions held at regular or special sessions.

Reisch described the resolution as strongly worded.

The council vote in support of the resolution was without dissent.

D.C. Crime Rate Drops

Daly City's crime rate registered a "dramatic decrease" in reported incidents over the same period last year it was learned today.

There have been 353 reported crime incidents so far this year. This same period last year — between January and March — revealed some 502 reported incidents.

Police Chief Roland Petrocchi attributed the decrease "largely to good patrol and preventive practices."

The cases of burglary within Daly City, however, are 23 cases above the same period last year.

DENTAL HEALTH FACTS

Small cavities in the teeth can be filled more easily and with less discomfort than large ones. If decay is neglected it leads to infection and abscess formation. An infected tooth is a hazard to good health and often must be removed.

A tooth that has been lost should be replaced by an artificial one. If it is not, the other teeth will shift. This shifting may lead to more decay and to diseases of the gums.

Irregular placement of the teeth should be corrected for many reasons: To improve appearance, speech and the ability to chew food and to help prevent other dental diseases.

Regular dental treatment will help you to have teeth that are both healthy and attractive.

Have your dentist check for cavities and follow his recommendations if treatment is needed. Dr. Campbell limits his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for some; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Appetites Perk Up in Springtime

As the weather perks up in the Spring, so do the activities and appetites of young and old. New projects are begun, more time is spent outdoors, and, because of this increase in family activity, the homemaker will want to pay particular attention to the foods she'll be serving — foods that combine health-giving vitamins and minerals in appetite-satisfying, eye-appealing dishes.

Top fruit in the fresh produce section right now that fills the qualifications of wholesome eating and versatile cooking is the Washington Winesap apple. This variety is a nice choice for the homemaker because its white, crisp meat contains Vitamins A, B, and C, minerals and natural fruit sugars, and because it will retain its unique, winelike flavor and its tart and tangy qualities throughout cooking. It is, in the broadest sense, an all-purpose apple. Not only will it lend this flavor to any apple recipe, but it becomes the most refreshing of mid-morning or afternoon snacks — low in calories, high in benefits.

We have taken a favorite dessert recipe, an old-fashioned apple crisp, and given it new fillip by combining it with other currently available fruits. Rhubarb, fresh from the garden, is used in the Spring Rhubarb-Apple Crisp. A warm, very tasty, pink 'n pretty combination with the Washington Winesap apple, this borders on being a pudding, since it includes eggs in the filling. The Apple Crisp Mandarin features Winesap apples and canned Mandarin oranges, spiced with nutmeg and served with a tart sauce utilizing the juice of the oranges. Bananas and Washington Winesap apples are blended with brown sugar and lemon juice, then combined with a crumbly crisp graham cracker and sugar mixture in the Apple-Banana Bake. These are particularly suited to luncheon service, as they're cooked in individual portions in small ramekins or baking dishes.

SPRING APPLE RHUBARB CRISP

- 2 cups Washington Winesap apple, finely chopped
- 2 cups rhubarb, finely chopped
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tsp. flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Place finely chopped apple and rhubarb in a bowl; set aside. Sift flour, sugar and salt together; sift onto fruit. Beat egg yolks until lemon-colored, and stir into the floured fruit mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff and then fold into the fruit mixture. Transfer to a greased baking dish and spread with crumb topping.

CRUMB TOPPING:

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup chopped nutmeats
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. nutmeg

Blend sugar, flour and butter together until crumbly. Add nuts and spices and blend. Press topping down over apple-rhubarb mixture, and bake at 375 degrees F. for 30-40 minutes. Serves 8.

APPLE CRISP MANDARIN

- 4 Washington State Winesap apples
- 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1 11-oz. can mandarin oranges
- 1/2 tsp. nutmeg
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tsp. flour

Wash, peel, core and slice apples into a bowl. Add well-drained mandarin oranges (liquid may be reserved for orange sauce), and lemon juice. Sift flour, sugar and nutmeg together, then sift over fruit in bowl. Blend well and pour into a well-buttered low baking dish. Cover with crumb topping.

CRUMB TOPPING:

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup sifted flour
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup shredded coconut

Combine all ingredients until crumbly. Press with spoon the top of the apple-orange mixture. Bake in 350 degrees F. oven for 45 minutes. Serve with tart orange sauce or with plain cream. Serves 8.

APPLE-BANANA BAKE

- 1 cup graham cracker crumbs
- 4 tsp. melted butter or margarine
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 4 bananas, diced
- 4 Washington State apples, peeled, cored and diced
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 1-3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Blend together the graham

BAN SMOKE

If you're pan-frying meat and it smokes, the heat's too high. If you broil the meat and there's smoke, it's too much heat. Moderate temperatures put a ban on these smoke signals and save meat.

Bake Pears With a Ham

Cut 3 fresh Anjou pears in half and remove the cores. Brush cut sides with lemon juice. Blend 3 tablespoons each of softened butter and brown sugar with 1 tablespoon curry powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Pile in centers of pears and bake about 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Good with baked ham. Serves 6.

Springtime Sparerib Artichoke Stew

The San Francisco Italian (Tuscan ancestry) who told of this recipe promised as he praised it, "The sweet pork with the bittersweet of artichokes just prepares your taste to appreciate the red wine." He said that all you need to serve with it is fresh Italian (or French) bread and red wine. (For a major meal, you might want to add an oil-and-lemon-juice-dressed crisp green salad and cheese and coffee.)

This springtime stew is quick to make if you use frozen artichoke hearts. But now that it is a peak season (March-April) for artichoke hearts (little artichoke less than two inches in diameter), you might invest a little more time and have fresh artichokes in the stew.

CALDWELL, PLUMMER, BATES IN SHAKESPEARE STRATFORD, Ontario (AP)—Featured performers in the 15th annual Shakespeare Festival here next summer will include Zoe Caldwell, Christopher Plummer and Alan Bates. Miss Caldwell and Plummer are set for "Antony and Cleopatra," the premiere of which has been postponed from June 12 to July 31. Replacing it as the opening production will be "Richard III" with Bates in the title role.

and cut into chop-like pieces
1 cup Rubion
Salt and freshly ground black pepper
1 large onion, finely chopped
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 large cloves garlic, minced or mashed

Cheese-Pears

A trio of cheeses blended together makes an enticing dessert when served with chilled juicy ripe Anjou pears and crisp crackers. Choose shredded sharp Cheddar cheese, blue cheese and cream cheese. Have cheeses at room temperature for easy blending; then shape in a roll, coat with chopped nuts and wrap in waxed paper. Chill and slice to serve with creamy white wedges of fresh pears.

For Vegetable Balkers — A bowl of any one of the condensed vegetable soups helps provide nutritional balance for children who won't eat their vegetables.

Lime Pear Salad Idea

For this easy sparkling good salad, prepare a package of lime-flavored gelatin using ginger ale for part of the liquid. Then chill until thick and syrupy and pour over 4 halved and cored fresh pears arranged in a shallow pan or mold. Chill until firm and cut in squares to serve, allowing a pear half for each serving.

Fresh-Baked Pineapple Cheese Rolls

Delicious, delightful, describes these fresh baked pineapple rolls gently covered with a crystallized cinnamon-sugar glaze. Munch your way to the center of each roll and you'll be pleased with the flavorful cream cheese mixture topped with pineapple jam.

Make them the easy, convenient method by using frozen ready to bake bread dough. Enjoy the ease with which you can make wonderful home baked rolls from the frozen dough. A real added benefit is the economy of using the high quality yeast dough. With rising prices everywhere, true economy is rare and refreshing.

PINEAPPLE CHEESE ROLLS

1 loaf (1 lb.) frozen ready to bake bread
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons flour
1 package (3 oz.) cream

cheese, softened
1 egg yolk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon brandy
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1-3 cup pineapple or your favorite jam

Remove frozen loaf from the package and let soften at room temperature until easy to shape with the hands (1 to 2 hrs.). Cut loaf into quarters. Then cut each quarter into 4 pieces to make a total of 16. Make a rope of each piece about 10 inches long. Mix together 1/2 cup sugar and cinnamon. Roll and press ropes in cinnamon mixture until they are completely covered and the mixture is used. Shape each rope into a coil on a greased baking sheet.

Mix together 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 teaspoons flour. Add remaining ingredients except jam. Place a rounded teaspoon of mixture in the center of each roll. Spoon 1 teaspoon of

Wilted Lettuce

Tear crisp western iceberg lettuce into bite-size pieces; mound in shallow bowl. Add some strips of dry salami, ripe olive rings and snipped chives or green onion tops to bottled Italian dressing; heat. Pour hot dressing over lettuce. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese; serve at once.

Gravy Seasoning For Gourmet Touch

Whoever said that inexpensive cuts of meat can't be glamorous? Here is a stuffed rolled meatloaf that looks like a million dollars while barely budgeting the budget!

The meat, humble ground beef, is stuffed with a savory mixture of whipped potatoes, grated cheese and chives.

The secret of its picture-perfect appearance and equally superb taste is a brown gravy seasoning and cooking sauce which flavors, browns and glazes in a one-step operation. No need to add extra spices or commercial gravies.

This meat free gravy seasoning sauce is an indispensable kitchen staple. It acts in so many capacities: as a seasoning, marinade, tenderizer, ingredient and basting agent. One tablespoon does the work of a shelf of spices.

Watch it perform in the following budget menus.

Apple Juice
Masters Meat Roll
Tossed Green Beans and Carrots
Green Salad
Chocolate Pudding Parfait
Beverage

Glazed Luncheon Loaf
Cole Slaw with Carrots and Raisins
French Fried Potatoes
Rolls and Spread
Ice Cream and Cookies
Beverage

Masters Meat Roll
2 cups soft white bread crumbs
2 eggs
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup minced onion
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon liquid brown

Combine ingredients listed and mix well. Pat meat mixture out on grased foil or wax paper, making an oblong about 6-in. by 10-in. by 1-in. Spread meat layer with cold filling and roll up from long side. Use a spatula to ease meat off paper and into roll. Use paper to lift roll onto greased baking pan. Turn roll so that seam is underneath and pat into shape if necessary. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, about 50 minutes, brushing several times with a mixture of 1/2 cup catsup and 1 tablespoon brown gravy seasoning sauce. When done remove meat to platter and keep warm. Add 1 cup hot water to drippings in pan and stir in any remaining "brush-on" mixture. Blend in 2 tablespoons instant blending flour, bring to boil and cook until thickened. Strain and serve with meat roll.

Makes: 6 servings.
Meat Roll Filling
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
1 tablespoon chopped chives
Mix well. Use cold or chilled.
Chocolate Pudding Parfait
Make chocolate pudding as directed on package. Cool. Fold in 1 cup diced cake. Chill. Fold in 1 package whipped topping prepared as directed on package. Spoon into parfait glasses.

Glazed Luncheon Loaf
Place luncheon loaf (12 oz.) on baking pan, score top. Mix 1 tablespoon brown gravy seasoning sauce, 1/4 cup apple jelly, pinch ground cloves and 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees, 10 minutes. Spoon glaze over hot loaf often during next 15 minutes.

New Flavor Mate For Liver Entree

Onions and bacon have escorted many a serving of liver to the dinner table. Why not try this variety meat with still another companion? Make it mushrooms.

Mushrooms in stems and pieces do not contribute too much to the cost of the entree, but they do add style, especially when combined with soy sauce, coriander and parsley flakes.

An excellent source of several valuable nutrients including iron, liver should be served often. When treated to seasoning like these and careful cooking, it can be a welcome dish.

Liver and Mushrooms
1 pound beef or pork liver, sliced 1/2-inch thick
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1/4 teaspoon ground coriander
1/2 teaspoon parsley flakes
1/2 cup water

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge liver in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add mushrooms and liquid, soy sauce, coriander, parsley flakes and water. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Four servings.

Welcome Spring With Orange Pie

Orange Velvet Cream Pie is the thing for spring — lovely to look at, delicious to eat, and inexpensive to make. The Valencia orange, Florida's prize citrus variety, is what makes this pie so good. This superb orange, with its deep colored peel and fruit, is practically seedless and has exceptionally sweet, rich flavor. Florida is harvesting its biggest orange crop in history this year, and prices are lower than ever. Valencias will be in the market from March to July.

The filling includes the sweet orange juice, unflavored gelatin, and either whipped heavy cream or evaporated milk. Firm of texture, yet light and luscious, the pie makes a pretty party dessert garnished with whipped cream and fresh, juicy orange sections.

Orange Velvet Cream Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups Florida orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated Florida orange rind

2 tablespoons lime juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped or
1/2 cup thoroughly chilled evaporated milk, whipped
1 9-inch baked pie shell

Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup cold orange juice in saucepan. Blend sugar, flour, and salt; add to softened gelatin; mix thoroughly. Place over medium heat; stir constantly until gelatin is dissolved and mixture is thickened. Remove from heat; add orange rind and remaining 1/2 cup orange juice and lime juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold into whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk. Turn into pastry shell and chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and orange sections.

YIELD: 1 9-inch pie.

Coffee-Klatch Cake —No Aftereffects

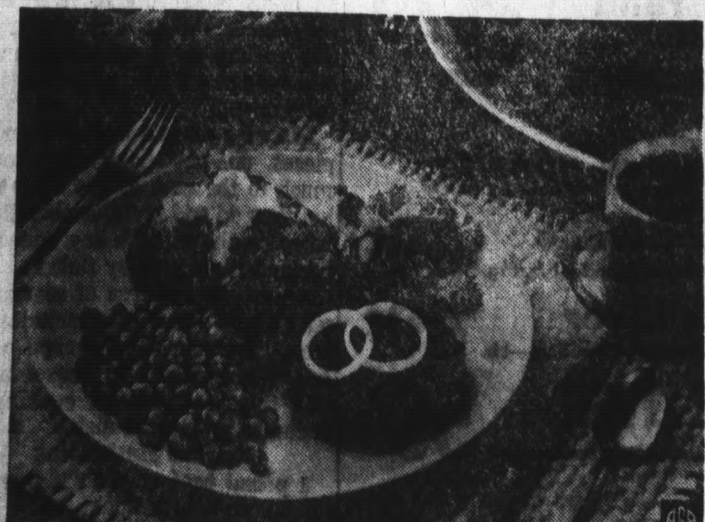

Have no qualms about giving both cake and frosting a coffee flavor boost when you use decaffeinated coffee. It has all the flavor of freshly brewed ground coffee without the stimulating aftereffects. Let it substitute for water in white cake mix; use it with confectioners' sugar and melted unsweetened chocolate to make a quick and easy frosting. You can serve the cake from a cutting board; that way it's easy to carry to a club meeting or party. And if it's a program planning party that may go on all afternoon, better serve decaffeinated coffee for drinking, too, so no one need worry about having second and third cups.

Coffee Klatch Cake

1 package white cake mix
1 1/4 cups freshly brewed decaffeinated coffee, cooled
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Mocha Frosting: Cream 1/4 cup shortening. Using 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, gradually blend in 2 cups. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and 2 squares melted unsweetened chocolate. Add remaining 2 cups sugar, alternately with about 1/4 cup brewed decaffeinated coffee, until of spreading consistency. Beat after each addition until smooth. Makes about 2 cups frosting.

Super Cheeseburger With a New Twist

Cheeseburgers make a hit with just about everyone at almost any time. Kids, of course, love them most. Here are some with a new twist. They are easy to make, if guests drop in unexpectedly, but they contain slightly different ingredients to give them their distinctive flavor.

You might try this recipe the next time your children bring over a crowd of hungry friends, or serve them to your family for an appetizing and nourishing low-budget meal.

Super Cheeseburgers

96 Cheez-It crackers (2 cups whole crackers)
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef chuck (or lean ground round steak)
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons grated onion

With rolling pin, crush crackers into very fine crumbs between two pieces of waxed paper. (Crackers compress into 1 cup crumbs.) Mix with salt and set aside. Then mix the beef well with all other ingredients; blend in the cracker crumbs and shape into six patties about 3/4 inches thick. Broil for about 5 minutes; turn and broil for about 3 minutes longer, or to desired degree of doneness. Yield: 6 servings.

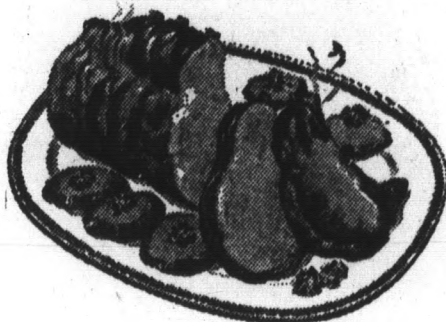

Cheeseburgers may be served alone, or more attractively with vegetables and salad. Baked potatoes, green peas and mixed green salad are good additions.

Tuna Saves Money, It's Versatile, Too

Considering today's cost of living—let's take a new look at tuna. High-protein tuna is low in price and so versatile, you can serve it often. Whether in main-dishes, sandwiches, served hot or cold, indoors or out . . . tuna can easily turn up twice a week without repetition. For rainy days indoors, serve a hearty tuna skillet dish. No need to go out shopping—you probably have what it takes on hand. For sunny days outdoors, try a tasty tuna tower.

Tuna "Rainy-Day" Skillet Dish

2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
 1/2 green pepper, cut in strips
 1 can (1 pound) seasoned stewed tomatoes

1 tablespoon cornstarch
 1 teaspoon curry powder
 1/2 teaspoon each, salt and Ac'cent
 1 can (1 1/2 or 20 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained

Drain vegetable oil from tuna into skillet. Add celery and green pepper. Cook over moderately high heat 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Drain 1/4 cup of liquid from stewed tomatoes into cup; add cornstarch and blend well. Add to skillet with tomatoes and remaining liquid, seasonings, and mix well. Add tuna and drained pineapple. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Serve over hot cooked rice.

YIELD: 4 servings.

"Sunny-Day" Tuna Tower

You hardly need a recipe to build a Tuna Tower. The bottom half of a hamburger roll supplies the foundation, and lots of your favorite tuna mixture makes up the ground floor. Next comes a colorful slice of tomato, onion, and cucumber. The tower tapers off with half a hard-cooked egg, a stuffed olive, and is held together with a skewer or knitting needle. Fun to see—and so tasty!

Three-Bean Salad For Any Occasion

"Three-Bean Salad" is a very ordinary name for an extraordinary salad, one liked by all ages and that fits into almost any occasion, menu, and setting from barbeques and picnics to Sunday supper on the porch, formal buffet table, and a lot of in-betweens. It is a good traveler too, which makes this a fine "potluck" contribution for church and neighborhood gatherings. Best of all, it knows no season and is obligingly made ahead.

You really do not need a recipe. Basically the salad is this. Large plump white Great Northern beans and colorful Red or Kidney beans, all grown in Idaho, along with canned green beans, go into the salad's making. The white and red beans may be home-cooked.

But, when you are short of time, it is a joy to know that these varieties of Idaho's famous beans may be found in cans on your grocer's shelves. The cans each contain around two cups of beans. Equal quantities of each variety are used. So it is easy enough to work out a recipe if you need one. Canned beans are a mighty handy item to have on your food shelves. Same fine quality that you get when you cook the packaged dried Idaho beans.

Place the three bean varieties, drained, in separate bowls. Pour over them a savory tomato-free garlic-flavored oil dressing. Cover each of the bowls and refrigerate over-night and the next day until nearly time to be used. A bit before serving time, combine in a chilled bowl the three beans, dressing and all, adding chopped sweet Spanish onions or onion rings and thin-sliced celery, some cubes of a nippy Cheddar cheese if you like. Toss together gently. You may wish to dress up the edge of the bowl with crisp cold salad greens of your choice.

Serve in individual chilled bowls or plates. Salad will "keep" several days. Hot garlic-buttered French bread is a perfect partner, maybe not so elegant but mighty good for dunking in what dressing may be left in one's salad bowl.

Ground Beef For Freezer

When you're stocking up on ground beef in the freezer, have it packed in two ways. Some of it should be in patty form so it can be cooked, without lengthy thawing, as hamburgers in quick time. The remainder should be packaged in amounts to suit other needs of the family, like 1 1/2 to 2 pounds for meatloaves, spaghetti or pizza sauces.

Ripeness Clue

Test fresh winter pears for ripeness by pressing them gently in the palm of the hand. If they yield to gentle pressure, they are juicy ripe and ready to eat. If not, they will ripen in a few days when held at room temperature.

Many Ways To Bake 'Em

There's no need to peel pears for baking. Their tender skins are flavorful and help hold their shapes. Simply core the pears, fill the centers with sugar and a dab of butter. Place a small amount of water in the bottom of the baking dish and bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes or until tender.

For variety, use brown sugar or maple syrup for the sweetening in the centers of the pears or stuff them with chopped raisins or dates or nuts.

For fancier baked pears, use a little dry sherry for basting and serve them with a fluffy custard sauce.

The U.S. exported the production of 80 million acres, or $6.7 billion worth of agricultural products in fiscal 1966.

Steak Pizza for Dinner

Steak and pizza are a combination to please a man but pepper steak pizza and French fries will be the whole family's favorite meal. It all starts with a packaged cheese pizza mix, complete with crust mix, sauce, and cheese.

You add the strips of steak, hunks of green pepper and if you wish, onion rings. These are added just before baking the pizza.

Hearty and satisfying, pepper steak pizza makes an appetizing main dish for dinner. Serve with crisp French fries and chilled mixed greens salad. It will please your family most any evening.

This quick idea is especially good for the days when the hours seem shorter than the planned activities. It's also a great pizza for hungry teenagers and for when the men get together for a poker evening.

PEPPER STEAK PIZZA
1/4 lb. sirloin steak, cut into 1/2" strips
1/2 medium green pepper
1 medium onion
1 package Complete Cheese Pizza Mix
Preheat oven to 425 degrees

Roast Beef Gravy Trick

It happens in the best of families: there's roast beef left over but no gravy. Don't fret. Simply open a can of onion soup and dilute, if necessary. Thicken with flour and water for gravy and heat the roast beef slices in it to serve over bread as a hot open-face sandwich or over a mound of mashed potatoes, noodles or rice.

F. Cut sirloin into 1/2" strips. Cut green pepper into 1" chunks. Peel and slice onion thinly. Prepare pizza crust as package directs. Spread sauce over crust. Put steak strips, green pepper chunks, onion rings over sauce. Sprinkle with packaged cheese. Bake 15-20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

SAUSAGE MEXICALI PIZZA

1 package Complete Sausage Pizza Mix
1 cup cooked or canned corn
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1 tablespoon minced pimiento
Preheat oven to 425 degrees
F. Prepare pizza as package directs. Mix together corn, green pepper, and pimiento and pizza sauce. Spread mixture evenly over prepared crust. Sprinkle packaged cheese over top. Bake for 15-20 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

Anjou Pears Are Versatile

The fragrant spicy sweet flavor of fresh Anjou pears makes them ideal for eating out-of-hand as well as cooking. You will find a plentiful supply of this lovely fruit on the market from October through May. The tender flavorful skin of Anjou pears may be green or yellow-green, even when ripe.

Brighten Lunchboxes

Fresh Anjou pears, in season through May, are perfect choices for packed lunches. They're easy to eat, refreshing and full of quick energy. Keep a bowl of fresh pears ripening for lunch box desserts as well as at-home snacks.

Chili and Cheese for Dipping

Hot cheese and chili dip to scoop up with crisp, fresh vegetables or crunchy crackers is the perfect snack to accompany refreshing liquids.

It's all so impressive and all so easy. The hot dip starts with a can of all-beef chili, plain or hot, and is heated with American or cheddar cheese until the cheese has melted.

Then, it just needs to be kept hot over a candle warmer or on an electric hot tray while the guests help themselves.

It is a wonderful idea for serving on the patio or take the dip with you to a beach party and heat it up over the fire. Everyone can nibble a little while waiting for the hamburgers or steaks to cook. If you wish, the dip can be made up the day before and stored in the refrigerator.

CHILI CHEESE DIP

1 cup grated American processed cheese
1/2 cup water
1 (15 1/2 oz.) can All-Beef Chili.
In top of double boiler, melt cheese with water. Add chili; stir until thoroughly blended, and well heated. Serve hot for a dip. Serve cold for a spread. Makes 2 cups.

Generic Term: all beef chili.
CHILI CREAM CHEESE DIP
1 (15 oz.) can Chili with Beans
2 teaspoons minced onions
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 (3 oz.) pkgs. cream cheese
Mash chili and beans with fork until the mixture is well blended. Place in the top of double boiler. Stir in onion, green pepper, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Work cream cheese with fork until fluffy. Stir cream cheese into chili mixture and beat until all ingredients are thoroughly combined. Serve hot as dip or cold beans.

Try Tangy Sauce

Prepare a tangy sauce for peas, chopped spinach or green beans by mixing 1 can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, 1/4 cup can of milk, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, and 1/4 cup crumbled American blue cheese. Heat through and spoon over vegetables. Sauce not immediately used may be stored in airtight container in refrigerator for several days.

SLAW AND FRESH PEAR SALAD
1/2 tablespoon each sugar and salad oil

2 cups firmly packed fine knife-shredded green cabbage
Salad Greens
2 fresh pears, peeled and halved and cored

Something sociable when it comes to party foods are called California ripe olives. This dark and handsome fruit adds elegance and drama to all sorts of entrees, salads, hors d'oeuvres and sauces.

They're conveniently canned in nine sizes — just look on the label for an illustration of size to help you choose the one you need.

Chopped and sliced ripe olives are available in 1/2-ounce cans. For party salads, ripe olives unobtrusive texture and flavor go well with both entree and go-along ideas. Pretty little appetizer salads combine ripe olives and shrimp marinated in a spicy oil and vinegar mixture. At serving time, heap onto lettuce and accompany with crackers. This recipe is easily doubled for a crowd.

Olives Look Spectacular in Party Salads

A beautiful two-tone ripe olive salad looks spectacular on the buffet. The clear gelatin layer, flavored with madrilene consommé, shows off sliced ripe olives and chunks of salmon. Add cucumber, chives, more salmon and ripe olives to yogurt and whipped cream for the creamy layer and you have a fluffy built-in salad dressing. Hostesses appreciate unusual salads like this one that can be made well in advance of party time.

If it's a showy appetizer you want, fill a gouda cheese shell with ripe olives and a smooth sour cream and cheese mixture. For best results chill the shell and filling separately. When guests arrive, pass this colorful creation with an assortment of crackers.

RIPE OLIVE APPETIZER SALADS

Marinate ripe olives and shrimp at least 4 hours or overnight for best results.

1/2 cup canned California pitted ripe olives
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons chili sauce
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1 (4 1/2-ounce) can tiny shrimp or 1/4 pound fresh cooked small shrimp
Lettuce
Paprika

Combine ripe olives cut into pieces with vinegar, oil, onion, chili sauce, mustard and garlic powder. Rinse and drain shrimp; toss with olive mixture. Cover and chill at least 4 hours. Spoon onto lettuce; garnish with paprika and crackers as desired. Makes 4 servings.

BUFFET RIPE OLIVE MOLD
A snowy cream layer contrasts beautifully with colorful ripe olives and salmon in madrilene gelatin.

1 cup canned California pitted ripe olives
1 (8-ounce) carton yogurt
1/2 cup diced cucumber
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 teaspoons sugar
Salt
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 (1-pound) can red salmon
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 (13-ounce) cans consommé madrilene
Liquid red pepper seasoning
1/2 teaspoon tarragon
Cut 2 olives into wedges; arrange in pattern in bottom of 7-cup mold. Cut remaining olives into rings. Mix together yogurt, cucumber, chives, sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt; fold into whipped cream. Drain salmon. Discard skin and bones; separate salmon into bite-size chunks. Soften gelatin in water. Place over low heat stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in vinegar. Stir 1/4 cup gelatin mixture into yogurt mixture; turn into mold. Chill until almost firm. Mix remaining gelatin mixture with consommé adrilene, few drops liquid red pepper seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon salt and tarragon; chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in olive rings and salmon. Turn into mold over first layer. Chill several hours or overnight until firm. Unmold and garnish as desired.

RIPE OLIVE STUFFED CHEESE

Ripe olives, lemon peel and caraway seed add interesting texture and flavor to the cheese filling.

1 (8-ounce) gouda cheese
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup canned California chopped ripe olives
1 1/2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon caraway seed
Chopped parsley
Crackers
Cut rind from top of cheese; scoop out cheese, leaving 1/4-inch shell. Whirl scooped out cheese with sour cream and milk in blender. Stir in ripe olives, lemon peel, lemon juice, sugar and caraway seed. Chill mixture and cheese shell separately. Just before serving, spoon cheese mixture into shell and garnish with parsley. Serve with crackers as desired. Makes 12 servings.

ALLERS GOES BACK TO SERIOUS MUSIC
NEW YORK (AP)—Fran Allers, veteran conductor of Broadway musical comedies is restricting activities hereafter to opera and concert work. The 61-year-old native-born Austria who came to this country in 1938, said a congestion of commitments had caused him to cut down and he chose opera and concerts as "a gradual moving to where I came from."
Among shows he served were "Paint Your Wagon," "Camelot" and "My Fair Lady," which he conducted during most of its Broadway run plus premieres in Berlin, Vienna, Munich, Milan, Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

New Access Routes To Airport Urged

A proposal by Mayor Frank Bertucci of South San Francisco that airline carriers be assessed to construct needed new access freeways into the San Francisco International Airport was neatly sidestepped by George Hansen, general manager of the airport, at a meeting of the San Mateo County Council of Mayors in South San Francisco last week when he declared:

"This is not the job of the airport management. I think San Mateo County should approach them on this."

Hansen, featured speaker at the meeting, prefaced his answer by noting, "You are talking about a user tax," and explained that local jurisdictions cannot tax international carriers.

The South San Francisco mayor asked Hansen if the airlines had "ever been approached about adding $1 or $2 to their ticket to finance highway approaches." He pointed to the cost to airlines of operating jitneys and buses to San Francisco.

Reviewing the tremendous growth of the airport and the impending problems that will be created by 400 plus passenger airplanes and supersonic jets, Hansen said that building programs cannot keep up with needs.

And even worse, Hansen maintained, is the problem of cargo at the airport which is growing faster than passenger aircraft using the airport.

Expressing concern over the access road to the airport, Hansen said it is planned to "double deck" all roads around build-

Grundy Wills All to Family

Alfred Stephen William Grundy, an early-day mayor of San Bruno who died March 14 at the age of 89, left his entire estate to members of his family, according to his will, which was filed for probate in Superior Court in Redwood City last week.

Grundy, who was majority stockholder of Doctors and Nurses Outfitting Company of San Francisco, left that stock to his son, John, of San Bruno, who is manager of the company.

Grundy left his home, one-fifth of his remaining securities and cash, plus $150 a month from a trust fund, to his wife, Viola. The remainder of his estate was left in equal shares to two sons and two daughters: John, Alfred S. Grundy of Connecticut, Margaret Ginner of Berkeley and Jean Lee of Sacramento.

Sixteen Years' Work Pays Off

MORE than 16 long years of hard work and un-failing effort were crowned with success last week when trustees of the California State Colleges unanimously picked the Edgewood Hills site in San Mateo county for a new, four-year, liberal arts college.

Thousands of San Mateo County residents, their leaders and their legislators, participated in bringing this long-cherished ambition to final realization. They were notably assisted by the goodwill of the San Francisco Public Utility Commission and its chief officers, by educators in several sections of the state, and by the fair and impartial manner by which the State College Trustees proceeded to the final selection.

This newspaper made the procurement of a State College for San Mateo County an objective of its editorial policy.

When the new college opens its doors, an event now scheduled for 1972, the entire county will join in welcoming the faculty and an estimated 20,000 students. Most of those students will be from our own county and will be relieved of much of the ever-growing cost arising from attendance at colleges far from their homes.

Bringing a State College to this county is an achievement that calls for general congratulations to every resident of the county and for thanks to every person and every organization that helped.

Thanks to the State College Trustees can best be expressed by pledges to extend every possible co-operation in the great task of building the college that now lies ahead.

A new era in education for San Mateo County has begun.

Better Business

Guarantees Must State Extent

Lorene Beasley

Under recent standards set up by the Federal Trade Commission and Better Business Bureaus, a product advertised in any media or form as "Guaranteed" or "Warranted" must clearly and conspicuously state the nature and extent of such a guarantee or warranty.

No longer, under the new rules, is it acceptable to advertise a product merely as "guaranteed." Any advertisement mentioning "guarantee" or "warranty" must give a clear designation of what product or parts of the product are covered.

When the word "guaranteed" is used in advertising, it is now necessary that the name of the guarantor be given. The length of time a product is covered by a guarantee must be specified.

IN ADDITION to the details of the nature and extent of the guarantee, the advertiser must state the exact responsibility of the guarantor. The prospective purchaser should be made aware of his responsibilities, such as the return of the product and payment of service or labor charges, before the guarantor has to fulfill his obligation under the advertised guarantee.

The following illustration gives all the requisites established by the recently adopted rules concerning the use of the term "guarantee or warranty" in advertising:

A certain brand refrigerator is guaranteed by the manufacturer for five years from date of purchase. The manufacturer guarantees to repair or replace at its option defective parts only. If the purchaser wants to collect his guarantee, he must stand the expense of returning the refrigerator to the guarantor. If this involves shipping, the refrigerator must be shipped intact prepaid. C.O.D. service charges of $5 are charged if shipping charges are not prepaid.

THE GUARANTOR pays the return shipping costs. Parts held not defective are charged to purchaser at prevailing prices and must be paid prior to the return of the refrigerator. Read and understand your guarantees.

Pacifica Jumps At Froggy Challenge

Will Thomas

PACIFICA Chamber of Commerce directors are eyeing the "big time" — decided to enter a frog in the annual International Frog Jump contest at the Calaveras County Fair on May 20.

Naturally, points out Manager Bernard Lake, the entry will be named "Pacifica," who, it is anticipated, will be jockeyed to national fame by outjumping the best of the world.

Lake didn't say so, but we assume "Miss Pacifica" — new or retired — will do the frog prodding.

THE JUBILEE at Angel's Camp — "frogtown," just down the road a spell, more accurately — has not only publicity rewards for those groups and individuals who have well-trained (actually, I mean "lucky") jumpers, but, recalling a dozen years ago, a ball of fun, as well.

Of course, the contact back then was in the role of a collegian assigned to assist with meager publicity chores... but there has been a more recent journey to the Mother Lode... yet, we at home don't talk about it much. By messing around visiting, we missed every single frog jump of the weekend.

The kids loved the stage coach ride and the other good-time things... and hated "mean, old dad."

PROMISE of our own darned high-hopping frog jump was disastrous — never got to rounding up any pond frogs... and the kids thought those little tree critters unreasonable substitutes.

The wife, on the other hand, was pleased to get them out of the kitchen, where they wandered through a hole beneath the kitchen sink. You shoulda heard the screams when she came up with frog in hand 'stead of an S-O-S pad.

BUT, the youngsters did get a lot of enjoyment this past Easter weekend. Besides all the candy, egg hunting and egg smashing, they took in Circle Star's Cinderella, an entertaining afternoon for both — note this — "good, old dad," and them.

The boys thought Cinderella pretty, the girl saw the prince handsome, all considered the king and the sisters funny... and dad thought the queen was just wicked!

In an emotional mood, we were impressed by the tears — for real? — of the new Princess Cinderella as she sat on the throne at show's end... To me, another Circle Star success.

THE BUSINESS BEAT — Vance Whipple, new W. T. Grants manager at Westlake, is getting the routine down pat about now. He recently replaced Ed Speer, who doubled as this year's Westlake Merchants' Association. Speer's now in Newark.

Dick Owens has re-opened his New England Shop in the Westlake Center, with William Timko the manager. The store was recently remodeled throughout, which, in the process, added more working space.

Seven area Safeway employees honored "for outstanding service and courtesy to customers" were William J. Jillic, Sara E. Darby, Eliada Morgan and Janet A. Kelly, all of Daly City; and James H. LePine of San Bruno; and Lewis Caton of San Francisco who works in the Safeway Drug Center in Pacifica. Mrs. Morgan, incidentally, was born in Poland and educated in Poland and Germany; also works at Fairmont, in the Safeway bakery section.

Michael Segall of 64 Westpark Drive, Daly City, has been advanced by the Bank of California to international officers in the San Francisco head offices.

The Marquee

Laughter, Tears

Barbara Bladen

LAUGHTER AND TEARS ARE WOVEN INTO THE THEATRICAL FABRIC of American Conservatory Theater's production of "The Seagull" which opened Friday night at the Marines' Memorial Theater. In their enactment of Chekhov's bright but moody tragedy, all the forces of true artistry are brought to bear.

Who can say that the famed Russian playwright is obscure or difficult in the face of this superlative production? It shines with a brilliance that holds the acting profession in high esteem, and adds a new laurel to the crown placed by critics and audience on this incomparable company.

"Seagull" is a tragedy of young people cut off in their prime, as symbolized by the poet Treplev's wanton and senseless killing of a seagull. His girl friend, the innocent Nina later identifies herself with this bird after she's run away from home, had an affair with the author Tregorin, had his child who died, and failed as a stage actress. Treplev, having become an acclaimed poet, shoots himself in the despair of frustration and lack of artistic direction.

But the play is not about a few people. Against a background of dormant life in provincial Russia, we observe a family, a small community of characters whose lives are entwined and irrevocably dependent on each other. Director Edward Payson Call (bravo to him for the beauty of staging and interpretation) has unified his characters in a fluid, gripping portrayal of dramatic, vitalized tragedy.

THERE ARE MOMENTS OF MELODRAMA, but we can lay the blame on the virtuoso acting of Angela Paton as the vain actress Irina, nor on Trigorin played with staunch conviction by Ramon Bieri. They are victims of the dialogue which does provoke laughter from modern-day audiences by the excess of expressed grief when he threatens to leave her for the sweet, sensitive Nina. We were moved to laughter but simultaneously admiring of their style of delivery.

Only moments before that scene, we were moistened with compassion for Treplev's pleas to his mother Irina for love and attention. Austin Pendleton is very right as the neglected and overwrought young poet. He waves his arms about with undue motivation, during the first act but settles into the role with excellent restraint and heart-breaking intensity throughout the following three acts.

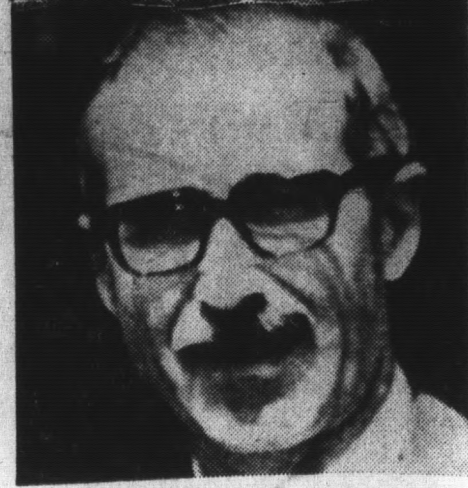

The vague images of which he writes is substantiated by the atmosphere in which he lives with the self-pitying and gloomy Masha (Barbara Colby) and her boorish husband, the complaining schoolmaster (Jay Doyle) and complaisant father Shamrayev (Dion Chesse). Stuart Wurtzel's eerie moonlit garden and dank, oppressive sitting-dining room heighten the effect of gloom and unrequited love.

BUT BETWEEN CRISIS, Michael O'Sullivan as the elderly bachelor uncle brings a ray of scepticism to the picture. His life has passed unfulfilled, too, but there is a philosophical resignation and worldly acceptance to his outlook. This same rapport with fate is projected by Richard Dysart as the Malevolent doctor. Two superb actors on the same stage.

Ellen Geer's Nina is breathlessly naive and happy in the first act but her gushing histrionics intrude on the ensemble as the play progresses. She redeems herself totally in the last act when she appears after two years, a demented and exhausted woman who likens herself to the seagull killed without rhyme or reason in soaring flight.

'Quietest-Ever' School Races

Frank LaPierre

THE SCHOOL BOARD RACES now underway in the North County have got to be the quietest-ever. Except for a few ill-placed placards and roadside signs (Sincere... Honest... 'Vote For...') there just hasn't been any of the good old challenges, political barbs and what-have-you, normally associated with campaigns. But what worries most entrants is the vote volume. Will the good citizens hereabouts get out the vote come April 18? THAT'S THE BIG question!

AND WASN'T IT REASSURING to know the District Attorney's office has ruled "no conflict" of interest exists concerning a city employee who has entered the Jeff. Elementary School Board race. We would have thought this factor had been determined BEFORE he had entered the race — not two weeks after the close of registration.

A YOUNG DALY CITY pool "hustler" took international pool shark Cosmos down the Garden Path at a demonstration staged inside the plush Town and Country Billiard Parlors on Mission Street the other p.m. The red-faced Cosmos was downed repeatedly by a bearded youth who limited the comedian-trick shot artist to less than a half-dozen turns at the table. Actually, Cosmos' flamboyant attire sparkled more than his trick shots during the performance. And being shown up by a local boy didn't lend anything to his record.

A JOINT COUNTY-DALY CITY venture will get underway soon on Hillside Avenue improvements (curbs, gutters, etc.) The work has already been too long in coming, many homeowners in the area feel. School children have been made to either trudge through the mud or walk into the street — especially while THAT car wash was being constructed several weeks ago. Hopefully the children (and parents) will be able to walk along a sidewalk to and from the Colma Intermediate School upon completion of work.

The Book Shelf

'Cool,' a 'Kook,' Anti-Conformist

Samuel Chandler

To show that he is "cool," he speaks in long sentences about the merits of Mexican "pot" over Panamanian. He is opposed to policemen, IQ tests, the draft, and especially conformity.

His sympathies lie with drug addicts, draft dodgers, homosexuals. He argues for free love and birth control. Although he doesn't understand their message, such people as Leonore Kandel and Alan Ginsburg are his saints.

For him the slums of the Haight-Ashbury area of San Francisco are part of heaven. All he cares about conventional diets is that they wore their hair in the fashion adopted by The Hell's Angels or The Rolling Stones.

HE DRESSES as a tramp of bygone years; mouths filthy words and speaks in a language that ignores the progress of centuries.

He won't salute the flag, condones riots, makes obscene comments about the President and all other government leaders. He boasts that he will ignore the draft and call upon the Civil Liberties Union to protect him.

Yet he lives in an America that is the fruition of the dreams of the Pilgrims and pioneers. At 18, he has never had to work, never been cold, never wanted for clothing or shelter. He has never known men to lose their jobs, never seen a repossession.

He has heard of wars from grandfathers who were doughboys and from his father who was a G.I. All he knows about the war that engages his country in a far off place called Vietnam is that he is opposed to it because the leaders of his cult are opposed.

He is free to choose what he'll be and how he'll live. Within his grasp is a chance to enter a profession that was closed to most men of other ages. Yet his heroes are school dropouts. He thinks all professional men and successful businessmen are straights and squares. In nearly every respect he is anti-culture and anti-intellectual.

HIS GENERATION more than any that ever lived can bring about a golden age. His government is the more perfect union that Jefferson foresaw. The peace and prosperity that he enjoys is the domestic tranquility that the framers of the Constitution worked to provide for their posterity.

Before him — for the taking — is the knowledge of the greatest men: scientists, philosophers, prophets, warriors, writers, statesmen, inventors, artists, musicians, that all other ages have produced.

With such an opportunity before it, his generation will go down in history as one of the greatest. Will he be part of that greatness — this beat character, this pro hippy high school or college boy? Probably not.

He's the "kook" of the centuries. Golden ages are created by conventional men like Robert Browning's Paracelsus who knew that, "Love, hope, fear, faith—these make humanity; These are its signs and note and character."
